TO PROBE CAUSE OF SHIP WRECK

BABY SMITH IN NEED OF NAME

Because Mr. and Mrs. Sam Smith, parents of Cleveland's "puzzle baby," have been unable to decide upon a name for the child which they at first believed was a boy, after its birth in a Cleveland hospital, newspaper readers throughout the country, through Central Press have suggested names for the child who was called "George," at birth. "Georganna," "Georgina" and "George Elliston" are among those submitted.

DAYTON MAN KILLED BETWEEN TWO CARS IN RAILROAD YARDS

Native Of Spring Valley
Crushed To Death
While at Work

Crushed beneath the wheels of a Pennsylvania freight train, S. Webb Houston, 57, railroad brakeman, 113 Illinois Ave., Dayton, a native of Spring Valley, was fatally injured while at work in the rear of the Dayton Scale Co. in east Dayton about 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. He died in a police emergency car while being rushed to Miami Valley Hospital.

Houston was engaged with a crew, which was making up a train on the Pennsylvania lines east of the E. Fifth St. crossing when he was accidentally caught between two cars.

Two wheels of a coal car passed over his body but he was still alive when fellow workmen extricated him from beneath the train. Placed in a police car, Houston was dead before officers carried him into the hospital receiving ward.

His right arm and side were crushed by the wheels and he was unconscious when fellow workmen reached him.

Houston, in the past, is said to have sustained several minor injuries while employed on the railroad. His leg was injured a year ago.

Houston had been employed for the Pennsylvania Co. for the last twenty-five years. He was born in Spring Valley and moved to Dayton at the age of 30. He is survived by his widow, Amanda, and one daughter, Leona.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed. The body was removed to the Morris and Sons funeral home.

OHIO FILM CENSORS BAR FIGHT MOVIE

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 27.—Basing its action upon a special opinion given the board by Attorney General Edward C. Turner, the Board of Film Censorship of the State Department of Education, today denied its approval to the showing of the Dempsey-Tunney prize-fight film.

Turner ruled that while there is no specific Ohio law prohibiting the showing of prize-fight pictures, to permit their exhibition within the state would be "a gross abuse of discretion and contrary to the public policy."

SURVIVORS OF SHIP TRAGEDY NEAR PORT ON RESCUE VESSELS

Believe Captain Lost
With Ship Off
Brazil Coast

RIO JANEIRO, Oct. 27.—Captain Simone Gugli, and many of his officers, probably went down with their ship, the Princess Mafalda when the vessel foundered off the coast of Brazil Tuesday night, according to an announcement made by the Navigazione Generale Italiana, the ship's owners, today.

The offices of the Navigazione Generale Italiana stated they had received many reports of Captain Gugli standing on the bridge of the sinking ship, directing the work of rescuing passengers and crew, but as yet they have not received any word of his rescue by any of the five ships that picked up survivors of the wreck.

Other officers who are still reported missing are Chief Engineer Scarbith, First Officer Moresco, Ship Surgeon Dr. Figaroli, and Purser Longordine.

First survivors of the wreck are due to arrive here late this afternoon on the British steamer Avelona. Other vessels will arrive in Bahia tonight.

The government has taken measures to house the survivors and it is anticipated that an inquiry into the sinking of the vessel may be undertaken tomorrow, probably by the Italian embassy, since the wreck occurred outside of the territorial waters of Brazil.

ROME, Oct. 27.—With latest information placing the number of missing in the sinking of the Princess Mafalda at sixty-eight, general relief was felt here today.

However, anxious lines of relatives and friends of the crew and passengers aboard the Mafalda maintained their night-long vigil at the offices of the Navigazione Generale Italiana and at newspapers. Definite official figures were lacking in all quarters where the report of Captain Simon Gali was awaited anxiously.

Premier Mussolini personally requested Minister of Communications Ciano to keep him constantly informed of the latest bulletins. Ciano said:

"While we deplore the accident we are thankful that another terrible marine disaster was averted by the promptness with which ships in the vicinity rushed to answer the distress calls of the Mafalda."

The Vatican requested the papal nuncios at Rio de Janeiro and Buenos Aires to forward the names of priests aboard the Mafalda.

Newspapers published editorials counselling the people to bear up under a tragedy which could have been worse.

SENATOR CURTIS IS LATEST CANDIDATE FOR PRESIDENCY

Kansas Solon First To Announce His Intention To Run

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—Announcement that he would be candidate for the 1928 presidential nomination was made by Senator Charles Curtis, Kansas, Republican leader, to Kansas friends, Wednesday.

The announcement was embodied in a letter to Roy L. Bone, Topeka, Kan., president of the Curtis-for-President club of that city, and was the first definite declaration of intention by any of the numerous Republicans, who have been talked of as candidates since President Coolidge made his August statement that he did not "choose" to run.

Mr. Curtis made it clear that he would run only as a candidate in his own right. Curtis is counted as an administration stalwart in his capacity as leader of the Republicans in the senate.

"I will not allow myself to be used as a 'stalking horse' for anyone," the veteran legislator and former Kansas prosecutor said. "I will not consent to become a candidate if the delegation is to be selected with the view of voting for me a few ballots as a 'favorite son.'"

Ship Victims Tell Of Terrors

RIO DE JANEIRO, Oct. 27.—First accounts of the sea tragedy which on Tuesday evening sent more than 1000 passengers aboard the Italian liner Princess Mafalda rushing in terror to the lifeboats or over the side into the waters of the south Atlantic, when the vessel began to sink, reached here today.

They were wireless to the International News Service by two survivors who were picked up by the Greek ship Pera.

They described graphically the horror which burst suddenly upon the passengers enjoying their evening meal; the terror following explosions below decks; the panicky inquisitiveness of the women who would not be quieted by repeated assurances of the ship's officers; the wailing of little children in the darkness; and the final mad rush to the boats and water below.

"The first explosion," the survivors said, "came during the third class dinner hour. Immediately everyone rushed to decks, excitedly asking if the ship was sinking. 'Horror and fear gripped the passengers in spite of efforts of the officers who explained that there was a little trouble in the engine room which will soon be repaired.'"

"Then a panic ensued, especially among the women emigrants. Mothers, with wailing children clutching their skirts, screamed and joined the general rush of the third class passengers of the second class deck.

"Officers and crew did their best to prevent the fear-stricken from leaping overboard without life preservers. They worked heroically to calm the frightened crowd.

"Soon two more explosions shook the ship and she began to settle by the stern.

"The night was pitch dark and in the blackness tumult reigned. Women collapsed. Men aided the sailors to lower the boats and place life preservers upon the women.

"When the boats were swung, the women and children were placed aboard first. Some men attempted to get aboard, but when they saw there was not enough room in the boats for all at the moment, they took refuge on the life rafts.

"The work of swinging and lowering the boats was most difficult due to the inky blackness of the night. The crew worked manfully to accommodate all the passengers and the stewards struggled to calm hysterical women and children. Only drinking water was placed in the boats, as the crew knew the coast was not far away.

"Soon afterwards a light was seen on the horizon. It was the Formosa. Later the British vessel Rosetti arrived and by agreement, one vessel picked up all those in life boats and the crews of the other ships took care of those floating on rafts or preservers.

"For five hours the Mafalda remained afloat, and then, after another explosion, she sank. A mighty wave was thrown up as she disappeared below the surface.

"The women and children were rescued first and most of them muttered prayers of thankfulness."

STATE WITNESS FOR BANK ROBBERY CASE UNABLE TO APPEAR

Witness Has Moved From State—Defense Side
Heard

WILBUR, O., Oct. 27.—Trial of Wilbur Hand charged with complicity in the $175,000 robbery of the Commercial Savings Bank of Gallon, continued here today, although one of the state's chief witnesses failed to take the stand when called late Wednesday. Later development indicate that the witness, D. O. Osborn, manager of the City Service Oil Company of Gallon, moved to Kansas City, Mo., with his family, four days after having been served with a subpoena by Sheriff Ulmer.

Osborn is said to have been in the bank conversing with Cashier E. B. Beall when the robbers entered. Beall testified Wednesday that Hand was the man who forced him into a small room and kept guard over him while the other men searched the bank. Hand was also identified by Miss Louise Fernes who walked into the bank during the robbery.

Defense witnesses took the stand late Wednesday. Their testimony tended to show that Hand was in Toledo at the time of the robbery. One of the chief alibi witnesses was Larry Bevan, former assistant U. S. district attorney. He testified that he had purchased a newspaper extra telling of the robbery, and that while doing so he met Hand and his companion, Harry Zillick.

Zillick is also charged with complicity in the robbery and is to be tried following the present hearing.

Others of Hand's alibi witnesses were: Miss Mary Lockard, bookkeeper, and John Banks, car washer in the garage, where Hand kept his auto.

The state will make no attempt to bring Osborn here for the Hand trial, it was said today, though it is believed he will be ordered to appear for the Zillick trial.

AKRON POLICE SEEK SLAYER OF WOMAN

AKRON, O., Oct. 27.—Police and detectives today were searching for the slayer of a woman, believed to be Elizabeth Burke, 39, of Aultman, Ohio, whose body was found in an alley here last night.

The woman's throat had been slashed. A ten-year-old boy who is said to have accompanied the woman here from Aultman, was held by police. He gave a description of a man who he claimed attacked the woman.

CONFESSION OF BANK CASHIER READ INTO RECORDS OF TRIAL

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, O., Oct. 27.—Confession of Cashier William Thomas, former cashier of the Bridgeport Banking Company, now on trial for making false reports, following the crash of the bank, was read into the court records here today.

The alleged confession, said to have been made several weeks ago, declared that Thomas was willing to plead guilty to a charge of falsifying the bank's record, but that Thomas had no idea the sum of $300,000, the sum alleged in the shortage report.

"I am willing to plead guilty to making false entries and to falsifying the bank's records," the confession read by Prosecutor Paul Waddell, into the court records declared, "but I will not plead guilty to taking the money myself."

"In my opinion the shortages at the bank of my own fault would be about $100,000, and are shortages caused by 'damned foolishness.'"

Thomas is said to have told Waddell that the shortages were caused by trying to help others in hiding records of bad notes and overdrafts.

"This has been going on for ten or twelve years," Waddell read from the purported confession. "It first started by cash shortages made by carrying others' troubles. It got so bad I tried to 'cover up.' Instead of succeeding, it got worse and finally I couldn't hide it any longer."

Waddell asked Thomas how he made his books balance. "By removing ledger sheets until they did," Thomas replied, according to Waddell.

LEGISLATIVE TAX MEASURES TO INCREASE STATE TREASURY

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 27.—Estimates that taxative measures enacted at the last session of the Ohio Legislature will result in an increase annually of approximately $1,700,000 in corporation franchise taxes and about $1,500,000 in insurance fees, over the amounts paid into the state treasury last year, are contained in a joint statement submitted today to Governor Victor Donahey by Wilbur E. Baker, State Finance Director, and Merlino Brennan, State Budget Commissioner. The report deals with the condition of the state's finances during the months of July, August and September, last.

These taxation measures boosted the corporation franchise tax and raised the rate on gross premiums of foreign insurance companies from 2 1/2 to three per cent.

BILL STULTZ SEVERS CONNECTIONS WITH FLIGHT TO DENMARK

Alleged Criticism By Aviatrix Blamed For Rift In Crew

OLD ORCHARD, Me., Oct. 27.—"Bill" Stultz, pilot of "The Dawn," Mrs. Frances Wilson Grayson's amphibian trans-Atlantic plane, will fly the ship in a test flight today but only because he feels that until he has officially severed his connections with the projected flight to Copenhagen, it is his duty to handle the controls when the occasion arises.

Stultz tendered his resignation from the Grayson expedition yesterday after the publication of alleged remarks by Mrs. Grayson, which in effect said he had assumed command and headed the ship for land when it was off Sable Island in fog last Sunday. After a discussion of his resignation to night with Mrs. Grayson, Stultz agreed to remain with the party temporarily it was said.

Stultz, a pilot of long experience, declared, however, that the agreement to remain with the expedition temporarily did not nullify his resignation which is still in the hands of Mrs. Grayson. He was emphatic in his denial that he had turned the plane west because he was afraid to battle the fog on the Atlantic.

"I am not yellow," said Stultz, "but I have got a few notions of the common sense necessary for flying."

"When I noted the ship west off Sable Island, I did so that I might gain altitude before trying to get over the fog. The assertions credited to Mrs. Grayson which says I turned the ship west against her orders are lies. She was not giving orders at that time. Furthermore, why should I take orders at a time of emergency from one whose knowledge of aeronautics is limited. Unfortunately, at time that I was banking the ship to get altitude one of the motors went bad. That was a tough break for me. To date I have been on the short end of articles published about what occurred at sea but I'm satisfied to offer my record as an aviator to the world for determination of whether I have got the stuff necessary for trans-Atlantic flying."

The program for "The Dawn" today was crowded. At six a. m. Doc Kincaide, Wright motor expert, jacked her up preparatory to testing the new motor. The engines were to undergo a four hour running test. Mrs. Grayson and Stultz were to go up for a test flight late this afternoon to determine whether the plane is ready for another hop to Copenhagen when weather permits.

Retary Wilbur summarily detaching him from his command and ordering him to report to Washington.

Admiral Magruder had had more than thirty years of service and is eligible to retire on pension. He is 60 years old.

He is to be succeeded by Rear Admiral Julian L. Latimer, on November 5.

THIS MAKE THEM LIGHT-HEADED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—Approximately 14,000,000 women in the United States have bobbed their hair, according to Miss Gertrude Lane, a magazine editor, who spoke before the American Association of Advertising Agencies here.

If all that shorn hair were put on the scales, she estimated, it would weigh 3,400 tons.

Miss Lane estimated that America women spend $1,600,000,000 a year keeping themselves beautiful, a sum equivalent to the total national debt of several small European countries.

PROSECUTION NEAR END OF SUBMITTING EVIDENCE AT TRIAL

Transfer Of Liberty
Bonds One Of Last
Points To Prove

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—The prosecution in the Fall-Sinclair conspiracy trial planned to open the second phase of its case against the former secretary of interior and the New York oil magnate today.

Only a few little elements of the government's case to prove that Albert B. Fall and Harry F. Sinclair negotiated a lease on the Teapot Dome naval oil reserve under conditions embodying the greatest secrecy remain to be presented to the jury. Today Owen J. Roberts, federal counsel will begin the examination of witnesses who know about the deal wherein it is alleged over a quarter million dollars in liberty bonds passed from Sinclair to Fall in remuneration for the lease.

This charge in the indictment admittedly can be proved only by circumstantial evidence, as two key witnesses have fled to Europe and are defying the government, while a third, believed to be in Canada, cannot be found.

The government charges that Sinclair and certain associates, including the three missing men, formed a dummy oil company, purchased 33,000,000 barrels of oil at $1.50 per barrel and promptly sold the oil to Sinclair-Controlled companies at $1.75—all this without the putting up of a cent by the dummy concern which was incorporated as "The Continental Trading Company of Canada."

The profits of this deal were converted into serially numbered liberty bonds and deposited in a Canadian bank. Shortly thereafter, Henry S. Miller, Canadian attorney, who can not now be found, withdrew $250,000 worth and took them to New York. At the same time, E. C. Everhart, Fall's son-in-law, came east to New York, and when he returned west he deposited in Colorado and New Mexico banks to Fall's credit the same serially numbered bonds the Miller had brought down from Canada.

The defense contends that H. M. Blackmer, oil man now in Paris, alone formed the Continental Trading Company, and that Sinclair came into the deal solely as an agent for his companies seeking to buy the oil at $1.75. They say Sinclair never got a cent of the continental profits. The closest the government can come to proving otherwise is that Sinclair's name appears on the continental's contract with Col. Humphreys, original owner of the 33,000,000 barrels of oil—that is, unless Col. Robert Stewart, president of the Standard Oil of Indiana, whose name also appears on the contract, testifies otherwise. Stewart is a new witness and nothing is known of his testimony.

As for Fall, the defense will remain silent. They will neither admit nor deny the fact Fall got the bonds, but demand that the government link them up with the Teapot Dome. Everhart is expected to take the stand and refuse to testify on the grounds he might incriminate himself. Fall does not have to testify; neither does Sinclair.

Second Suspect Arrested In Police Probe Of Hold Up Here

Roy Bartlett, 25, Clarksburg, W. Va., partially identified as one of two bandits who held up and robbed The Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co. branch store at Main and West Sts., last Saturday night, has been arrested by police at his home in Clarksburg, according to a telegram received Thursday morning by Police Chief M. E. Graham.

Arrangements will probably be made to return him to Xenia. It is probable requisition papers will be obtained from Governor Vic Donahey, in the event Bartlett attempts to fight extradition to Ohio.

Sheriff Oliver Lee may be asked to take the necessary steps.

Bartlett was partially identified as one of the two bandits through a photograph found in the possession of E. H. Fayre, 26, Clarksburg, W. Va., held as a suspect at Police Headquarters.

ADMIRAL MAGRUDER ASKS PRESIDENT TO REVOKE HIS RECALL

Minority Committee
Members Demand
Hearing In Case

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—A congressional investigation concerning the efficiency of the navy loomed up today as a probable sequel to the case of Rear Admiral Thomas P. Magruder, who has been relieved of his command at Philadelphia by the secretary of the Navy Wilbur because of his criticisms of navy administration.

Admiral Magruder has appealed directly to President Coolidge for revocation of the order issued by Wilbur. The president is expected to receive Magruder's protest late today, and since the order calls him to Washington for an indefinite duty about November 5, an early decision must be made.

Navy chiefs appeared confident that Mr. Coolidge would sustain the order of Secretary Wilbur who acted, however, after a conference with the powerful bureau chiefs of the department. They pointed to the president's support of the war department in the Col. "Billy" Mitchell case and his recent recall of Major-General Summerall from the Pacific coast because of speeches criticizing the administration.

Regardless of the president's action, however, Magruder is expected to have the chance of airing his charges before congressional committees. Chairman of the House Naval Affairs Committee is committed to hearing Magruder. Minority members were understood to be planning to make emphatic demands that he be called. With the experience of the famous Admiral Sims case a poignant memory, Secretary Wilbur and the bureau chiefs have taken a decidedly different course in an effort to settle the "Magruder case."

Although the admiral termed his recall from the Philadelphia post an "insult," Secretary Wilbur insisted that the action was taken "for administrative and not punitive" reasons. The secretary's statement, nevertheless, carried a stinging rebuke.

Wilbur hinted that Magruder might be set to work on a plan to reform the navy when he came to Washington but said he had not decided upon a definite assignment. "That will depend upon my confidence with him," he said, adding that any request by Admiral Magruder will be given consideration.

Many navy secretaries also refused to say that court-martial charges would not be filed against the admiral later. He asserted that he is more interested just now "in ascertaining whether or not the navy can benefit by Admiral Magruder's knowledge or experience in regard to naval organization and naval economy."

Bureau chiefs, however, were frank in their hostility toward Magruder for his articles in a magazine and his subsequent newspaper interviews. They did not regard his charges of too many navy yards and his host of repairs so seriously because they blame "political appropriations" by congress for some of these conditions. They were aroused, though by Magruder's charges that there are too many "desk admirals" in Washington and too much red tape throughout the navy.

Publication of correspondence between Secretary Wilbur and Magruder revealed a long list of inaccuracies were charged to Magruder in his magazine and newspaper statements. The veteran admiral, however, refused to retract in any major instance. He clung tenaciously to his charges that the navy was "spending $300,000,000 and get $200,000,000 worth of navy."

WORKHOUSE GUARD HELD IN "DOPE RING"

EXAMINE BODY OF "CLINIC" VICTIM

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 27.—Authorities here today were awaiting complete reports from the city chemist's office regarding an examination of the vital organs of Mrs. Edna Satterfield before taking further action against Dr. H. In the meantime a search was being continued for a Pittsburgh chemist, said by Reynolds to have been responsible for mixture of a fatal serum used in the clinic laboratory. Mrs. Satterfield was the latest victim of the treatment, according to police.

Reynolds already faces charges of practicing medicine without a license and manslaughter.

- A - FABLE - by - Aesop Jr.

In 1456 A. D., there appeared in Andalusia, a town lying in the very center of Ramosis, a strange looking individual named Rawlins, who claimed to be able to make bows and arrows, not only just as good as the local craftsmen, but for some reason not known to the populace SOLD THEM MUCH CHEAPER THAN BOWS AND ARROWS had ever been sold before in that town.

When asked how he could do this scientific work at such a price and of such apparently good quality, he explained:

"It is my intention to make ALL THE BOWS AND ARROWS which are sold in this town. Therefore, I can sell them cheaper."

"But how can you make a PROFIT on which to LIVE and EAT and wear clothes during the time it will take before you will get ALL THE TRADE of this town?" he was asked.

"I expect to LOSE money on BOWS AND ARROWS during this time but when I sell a QUIVER (an arrow holder) you will notice that I make a most interesting PROFIT—in fact a splendid PROFIT," he replied.

"But why don't you make just a LITTLE profit on the bows and arrows and also a LITTLE profit on the Quiver and quit taking a loss on all these bows and arrows?" came the query, "like all the rest of our local craftsmen?"

"Hah! Hah!" laughed the stranger. "You are not acquainted with HUMAN NATURE as it really exists. If I did THAT customers would not wear a path to my door but would trade elsewhere."

"Do you expect to keep these SAME prices on Bows and Arrows AFTER you get to be the only BOW AND ARROW MAKER in Andalusia?" persisted the questioner.

"Ah-h-h-h-h," smiled Rawlins. "NOW you are getting close to my heart! Have you ever looked at the Bow and Arrow Business in THIS way?"

RADIO

In introducing the new RCA Loud Speaker 100-A, important details of construction are here brought to attention and their functions explained in order that the discriminating radio listener may become acquainted with the latest results of continuous research and development in radio acoustics.

SPECIAL FEATURES OF LOUDSPEAKER 100-A:

1. Produces more faithful reproduction over entire musical scale than any competing loudspeaker.
2. New type corrugated treated cone prevents paper rattles and is entirely weather proof.
3. A large size permanent magnet of special alloy steel gives great sensitivity and volume.

CASE AGAINST AUTO DRIVER DISMISSED

Shortly before Elmer Smith, colored, Dayton, was to be given a jury trial on a charge of operating an auto while intoxicated, Thursday morning in Probate Court, the case was dismissed by Judge S. C. Wright, on motion of Prosecutor J. C. Marshall.

An entry, dismissing a second charge of reckless driving, pending against Smith, will be placed on file Monday, it was announced.

Under an agreement reached, Smith will pay the costs of the proceedings.

A venue for the jury trial Thursday had been drawn last week but the dismissal of the case was made before a jury had been impaneled.

Smith's arrest was the outgrowth of an auto accident near Cedarville October 4, on affidavits filed by Louis Strewing, near Cedarville. The Dayton man pleaded not guilty to both charges.

But if the Americans took away a large number of souvenirs, there was a few of them who left some behind them. One was Dr. A. F. Millemore, of Cottonwood, Minnesota, who increased the gold reserve of the Bank of France to the tune of 415 gold francs.

The cashier could hardly believe his eyes when Dr. Millemore strolled in the bank one morning and produced the sparkling gold coins. The doctor said he found them while clearing up his estate in Minnesota, and his guess is that they were brought to America by some immigrant from France many years ago.

"Here are five good dollars," he said to his hotel proprietor where he had been well-taken care of during his sojourn in Paris. "I want to reserve that same room during our next convention so take this money."

"Certainly, I shall be delighted," replied the hotelkeeper, "at what date, please?"

"That will be in 1937!"

After a little hesitation, the money was accepted just the same and the Legionnaire went away in full confidence.

The committee of the American Legion which undertook to help put the French people in touch with certain veterans they had known during the war, received many amusing inquiries. The following letter was among them:

"Monsieur le Directeur: I am taking advantage of your kind offer to ask you if an American soldier who lived with my parents a short time before the Armistice, is in the group of Legionnaires. I have corresponded with him a little but for the moment I have completely forgotten his name, but I am sure it will be easy for you to find him, for he is not very tall and he comes from Texas."

Doctor Found Women and Children Sick More Often than Men

As a family doctor at Monticello, Illinois, the whole human body, not only a small part of it, was Dr. Caldwell's practice. More than half his "calls" were on women, children and babies. They are the ones most often sick. But their illnesses were usually of a minor nature—colds, fevers, headaches, biliousness—and all of them required first a thorough evacuation. They were constipated.

In the course of Dr. Caldwell's 47 years' practice (he was graduated from Rush Medical College back in 1875), he found a good deal of success in such cases with a prescription of his own containing simple laxative herbs with psyllium. In 1892 he decided to use this formula in the manufacture of a medicine to be known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and in that year his prescription was first placed on the market.

The preparation immediately had as great a success in the drug stores as it previously had in Dr. Caldwell's private practice. Now, the third generation is using it. Mothers are giving it to their children who were given it by their mothers. Every second of the working day someone somewhere is going into a drug store to buy it. Millions of bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin are being used a year.

Its great success is based on merit, on repeated buying, on one satisfied user telling another. There are thousands of homes in this country that are never without a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and we have gotten many hundreds of letters from grateful people telling us that it helped them when everything else failed.

J. C. Caldwell, M.D. AT AGE 83

While women, children and elderly people are especially benefited by Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, it is promptly effective on the most obstinate cases. It is mild and gentle in its action and does not cause griping and strain. Containing neither opiates nor narcotics, it is safe for the tiniest baby. Children like it and take it willingly.

Every drug store sells Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Keep a bottle in your home—where many live someone is sure to need it quickly.

We would be glad to have you prove at our expense how much Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can mean to you and yours. Just write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois, and we will send you prepaid a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE.—Adv

GET RID OF YOUR FAT

Thousands of others have gotten rid of theirs by my simple and efficient method of fat reduction without starvation diet or burdensome exercise, often at a very rapid rate and WITHOUT PAYMENT until reduction has taken place.

I am a licensed practicing physician and have made a careful study of the physiological requirements of the human body. This has enabled me to select such ingredients and in such proportion as in my opinion will produce not only a loss of weight without harm and an improvement in health, but with it an alleviation of all of the troublesome symptoms which frequently accompany and often are a direct result of overweight, such as shortness of breath on slight exertion, palpitation of the heart, etc., not to speak of the relief from the embarrassment of being too stout. WHY PUNISH CHILDREN?

That most children are punished not to make them better but because the parent is angry or has had his ego wounded is revealed by Winthrop D. Lane, the author.

"Parents have certain pictures of themselves," points out Mr. Lane. "Certain conceptions of themselves, and they do not like to have these disturbed. Even a child, if he steps on an adult's ego, is likely to regret it. And then we have to admit that children are nuisances. Love them as we may, cherish them as tenderly as we wish, they annoy us tremendously. They make us climb the stairs at night to give them drinks; they disobey us; they endanger our property by striking matches. They break things—they lose things. They pile all the chairs in one corner of the room and call it a steamboat. They trail mud through the house; they leave marks on the walls. They break out in new misconduct every day. We can not cope with all the varieties of their mischief.

"And so we punish them. We punish them because they make us angry, interfere with our plans and cause us worry. No parent likes to have his day knocked into a cocked hat."

CANCELLING DRIVERS' LICENSE

The California Division of Motor Vehicles cancelled 41 drivers' licenses in two months for offenses running the gamut from false statements made when applying, to various traffic violations. This is the only way reckless, incompetent and criminal automobile drivers can be weeded off our highways.

All the compulsory liability insurance laws in the world cannot have half the effect of such examples of the result of irresponsibility and unworthiness. In this age the auto is a necessity, and a driver will think twice before taking chances when he knows that he runs the risk of having his driver's license revoked.

Compulsory automobile liability insurance is not fair to the companies, or the great majority of drivers, who are sane and careful. A few months of wholesale revocation of licenses when good cause is shown, will do more to cut down accidents than years of compulsory insurance.

QUESTIONED VALUE OF I. Q. TESTS

The value of the much advertised intelligence tests, the I. Q. rating and all the special "exams" calculated to show whether you would make a better plumber or writer is strenuously questioned in an article by the late G. Stanley Hall which appears in the second issue of "Plain Talk."

"I do not believe," wrote Dr. Hall just prior to his death, "it is yet, if it ever will be, possible to test general, and still less, native, ability, and I even doubt if there is such a thing as the former. Educators once thought they could give a truly general culture, but most of us now doubt even whether there is any such thing. Psycho-analysis has taught us, if we did not know it before, that all the main determinants of character and conduct lie deeper than intelligence. The testers do not seem to realize that the mentality they test is only a very small part of the soul, and that their so exclusive devotion to it tends to make, and keeps, psychology superficial and narrow."

The Way of the World

COLOR IN DEATH

Undertakers in convention decide caskets ought to be in warmer colors—rose and purple. How characteristic of the day and world in which we live and die! We have added color to everything in the last decade. Clothes are brighter, music is colorful, motor cars match the rainbow. The logical next step is to put color on coffins.

IT CAN'T BE REGULATED

Professor A. J. Todd, scientist, says the ideal age for marriage is 25 for men and 22 for women. He has it all figured out that this is best for the race. Other scientists have figured it out before and will keep on calculating. Doubtless they are right. Reason is likely to be righter than instinct. But what are they going to do about it? Trouble is, few folks are really rational. It isn't quite natural to be logical. People will marry when they will, and that's all there is to that. Twenty-five or 22? Who cares?

TALK

"Women talk too much." So says Sara De Forrest, president of the New York League of Business and Professional Women. They talk about getting equal salaries with men. They talk about mixing private affairs with public service. They worry about many things. President De Forrest says they ought to do more demanding and less talking. She should be more patient. Women have been in the business world but a few years. They have gone a long way. Perhaps talk has helped.

UP AND AT IT

A. F. Hockenbeamer has been made president of the Pacific Gas & Electric Co. This is a great public utility. The presidency is a big job. Young men will be interested to know that this man was once a janitor and then a stenographer. And the hopeful thing is that in this world of expanding affairs there is more chance for that sort of thing today than there ever was.

AHEAD OF HIS TIME

It is encouraging, here and there, to find a man ahead of his time. Coach Stagg, head of athletics in Chicago university, is one of those men. He takes a long look and a big look at sports. He has perspective—the thing few of us have. He knows that to develop manliness and character is greater than to win a game. He is trying to put a finer spirit into sport. He will not get far, but he will be a pioneer and he will have helped to start something. The day will come when we will think less of the professional aspects and see the true possibilities of sport.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—Just by way of compiling further Manhattan statistics, a friend of mine interested in the traffic problem counted the vehicles passing the corner of "Ninety-second street and Broadway between the hours of five and six one afternoon. He tells me the tally was two thousand, and it seems to me rather an appalling fact. He just counted the vehicles going north.

There's a candy table at the door of the Waldorf-Astoria's main dining room, and patrons are expected to help themselves to a judicious mint or two, in passing out. The other day I saw an exquisitely dressed young woman, whose luncheon check had probably been an expensive one, wait her chance, after she'd had her share, and sneak three extra pieces of Sherry's candy when the maitre d'hôtel's back was turned.

The caricaturist in search of material would do well to amble through the departments in the big stores where "hats are made on the head," according to the idea long practiced in Paris. The women submitting to the Gallic operations are somehow so comic, so grotesque in their half-made lids and their burning self-consciousness. I hope the fad never extends to men's hats, because I look funny enough in some of the things I try on, when I look for a new hat, without subjecting myself to the ignominy of a fedora in the making. And think of what a half-baked derby would be like!

I lunched yesterday at the oyster bar in Grand Central Terminal. Of all the city's quick lunch counters, this is the most attractive and most efficient. Here oyster stew costs sixty cents, every high stool is taken, guests eat casually with their hats on, and there is a sprinkling of brisk, attractive young business women from the neighboring advertising offices. If you are cursed with sensitive nerves, the obligate of clashing dishes might offend you. Otherwise the atmosphere is soothing, even tranquil, principally because you have to wait for so short a time for the food you have ordered.

My wife says she found the town's most obliging girl in Gimbel's store the other day. Two bewildered Italian women who had, between them, only two words to indicate their wishes in the way of merchandise, were patiently listened to and directed to the lingerie department. The words were "wedding" and "nightgown." True enough, it is not hard to interpret that, but there are so many hard, clipped, bobbed-haired little girls all over town who lift heads and giggle and ignored the dazed Latin women shopping for trousseau stuff. The elevator girl turned to my wife when the little scene had ended and said cheerfully: "That's nothing to the woman who got in the car the other day and asks me which floor is the mules on. Well, I was ignorant, I'll say. How was I to know she meant bedroom slippers?"

MENU HINT

Meatless meals are the rule rather than the exception in many families at least once or twice a week. If you are not used to planning them it is a bit hard, but ten-times, to think of a hearty dish to replace the meat. Cheese and nuts are two of the meat substitutes that are considered most satisfactory. The latter are used with mavoroni to make the principal dish of the dinner menu.

Lima Beans with Celery—Use one pint fresh lima beans or one cup dried beans. If dried beans are used, soak over night, drain and rinse, then cook in boiling, salted water till tender, not soft. Cut celery in one-half-inch pieces, boil till nearly done, then add to beans. Let cook together a few minutes, add thin cream and serve hot.

Celery Soup
(Mrs. Mary Morton's Daily Tested Recipe.)
Cook the coarser stalks and green, leafy tops of a bunch of celery and one small onion (if you like the flavor) in a little water until tender. Strain and rub as much as possible through a wire strainer. Melt a tablespoon or more of butter, add a tablespoon of flour and mix smooth, gradually adding a pint of milk. Cook until smooth, add strained celery and water in which it was cooked, season with salt and pepper, let come to a boil and serve.

HIS MASTER'S VOICE

Living and Loving

BY MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

Love and Marriage

Can people learn to love after marriage? Should a person ever marry without love, trusting that it will come later? This is the question asked in the letter following. Also, is there any way to forget love?

"Dear Mrs. Lee: Can you tell me can a girl marry a man she does not love and learn to love him? And is there any way to forget love? There is one man I dearly love, but I must try to forget him.

"I would be so glad to get your advice, for my life is dull and I must wait for love or go ahead and take a man I do not love. I am 22.

"... WORRIED AND BLUE..." I would not marry a man without love, my dear, especially if you love someone else. Marriage, to be happy, requires a lot of love and understanding, and how could you give it under the circumstances? And it wouldn't be fair to the man. Wait awhile and I'm sure things will brighten up.

How is a girl to tell if her boy friend loves her if he does not write? It may sound humorous, but it is no fun looking for "the letter that never comes," is it?

"Dear Mrs. Lee: I am a girl 18 years old and I have been keeping company with a young man two years my senior. He is a good boy. My folks object to me going with him, although they let me bring him to my home. He has often told me he felt they did not welcome him there. I am away at college and he has been writing to me, but the last letter I wrote he has not answered. I love him and he seemed to care for me, but since I wrote him he has been with another girl. Do you think he means he is done with me? Do you think it would be all right for me to write and ask him why he has not written? I do not want him to think I am tagging after him. BLUE EYES."

He might not have gotten your letter, Blue Eyes. Write him the note and ask him. He couldn't feel you are "tagging after him" if you just write him once, and maybe he'll explain.

"Mrs. Virginia Lee, Dear Friend: I am 22. I have a friend in another city. I have known him for years and it has been over three years since I have been with him for any length of time. His letters are somewhat indifferent. I love him as I can never love any other man. I don't care to have dates with anyone for they don't appeal to me. I think some time he will come and we will marry, although he has never mentioned such a thing. Do you think me silly for loving and expecting love from him? Mother says he doesn't love me, LOVE doesn't act like that. Do you think he cares at all? MISUNDERSTANDING GIRLIE."

It is always best to bravely face the truth, isn't it, Girlie? If he has been getting your letters all this time and still does not show any warmth he cannot be very deeply in love. Go out with other young men and let him miss a few letters and when you do write tell him about your good times. If he has any desire to make you his wife that will wake him up. Try it. If he doesn't respond to this treatment, let him go, dear. Really and truly now, aren't you loving a mental picture—your ideal of him—rather than the real man? Of course you're not silly.

Keeping Your Shoulder Blades in and Your Chest Up
There is a saying that "position is everything in life" and this is certainly true of beauty. Your nose would not be beautiful on your forehead nor your eyes on your chin, no one would dispute that and yet many women seem to be completely oblivious of where their shoulders and chests belong. When I see a woman with convex shoulders and a concave chest I think of the old song about the girl whose "wishbone was where her backbone ought to be."

There seems to be a sort of lazy streak in the human race where posture is concerned. It is so easy to let everything sag—shoulders droop, chest droop, head fall forward or out of line—all of which register age or fatigue. You know the difference between make-up for a young girl or an old one on the stage. The former calls for buoyancy and all upward and outward movements and lines, the latter for the sag and droop, the curves that go down and inward. Carrying yourself well is not easy once you have allowed yourself to droop. It seems almost as if there were a force like gravity pulling you down. But if you do not pull yourself together and counteract the droop, keep your figure constantly in line, you cannot be truly beautiful. Your carriage also has a tremendously important bearing on the health of all your body. When you let your chest and shoulders droop you think he means he is done with me? Do you think it would be all right for me to write and ask him why he has not written? I do not want him to think I am tagging after him. BLUE EYES."

KELLYGRAMS

by Fred C. Kelly

An Elaborately Thought-Out Joke
Miller is a friend of mine with a serious job and a serious face. But he is fond of a joke—on others.

Miller spent a day at a friend's farm and chanced to witness the dehorning of a cow. When the horns were cast aside as worthless, Miller asked permission to take them along. He felt certain that they would come in handy for such uses as would later occur to him.

He decided to mail the horns to his next door neighbor, but not by the most direct route. He thought it would add to the neighbor's interest if they came by way of Cairo, Egypt, accompanied by an anonymous letter explaining that they were off the sacred bull of Aah! Miller looked up in a newspaper almanac the name of the United States consul in Cairo and wrote to him, asking that he remain the little package to the next door neighbor.

When he went to the postoffice to send the horns to the consul in Cairo, the mail clerk was curious about the contents of the package. When he learned that it was a pair of ordinary cow horns, he wondered more than ever and made bold to ask why a seemingly rational man should ship horns so far from home.

"It's, of course, none of my business, sir," said the clerk, "but if you'd care to tell me why you do it, I'd much like to know."

"No objection at all," replied Miller affably. "You see, in Egypt the cow is a sacred animal and they have there the best horn polishers in the world. I've found by experience that I can't get a pair of cow horns polished in this country half as well as I can in Egypt—and I can have it done there for less money. Take a hint from me and, whenever you have need to be polished from now on, send them to Egypt. You'll be much better satisfied."

And he walked away leaving the clerk more mystified than ever—probably more mystified than he had ever been in his life.

Nut and Macaroni Cavity—Combine in a bowl, two cups boiled macaroni, one cup bread crumbs, one cup English walnuts (chopped), two eggs, three cups milk, two tablespoons chopped parsley, salt. Bake in a well-greased casserole about 45 minutes in a moderate oven. Serve hot with brown sauce.

Curried Cauliflower—Cook cauliflower in boiling, salted water till tender, drain, then divide into flowerets. Fry onion in four tablespoons fat for a few minutes, add curry powder, one tablespoon lemon juice, salt and one cup water. Simmer 15 minutes, strain, pour over cauliflower and let simmer again for 15 minutes. Serve hot.

Grape Juice Couffle—Soak one envelope gelatin in one pint sweetened grape juice 10 minutes. Heat in double boiler till gelatin is dissolved. Strain into bowl; when it begins to thicken, fold in whites of four eggs beaten stiff. Pour half of mixture into a chilled mold. To the balance add one-half cup heavy cream, beaten stiff. Pour on top of first mixture and chill thoroughly.

Poor Dear!

"Is the rich young widow pining for her husband?"
"Not exactly, but from the way she is making his money fly, it might be said that she is wasting away."

Behind The Scenes in Washington

By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—To Senator Simeon D. Fess of Ohio, Washington gossip awards the medal for getting the worst presidential "talking-to" of the Coolidge administration.

Fess himself admits he was "scolded."

He was the first one to tell that he'd been "on the carpet."

The best guess is that he thought his wisest plan was to own up, rather than have the story leak out with exaggerations, though "they say" this was an incident it would take a mighty vivid imagination to exaggerate.

Fess will be recalled as a very early caller on President Coolidge, following the latter's issuance of his "do not choose" announcement, "out west."

"But he'll be drafted," added the Ohio senator, right away.

Others said the same thing at first, but presently they got the idea that the president didn't like it and shut up. They may have had the same notion still in the back of their heads, but they stopped harping on it after the first few days.

Not so Fess. He kept it up.

Now, if Fess had listened sharply he would have overheard certain cynical remarks politicians were making, in explanation of his insistence upon the "drafting" of the president, to run again.

He would have heard them surmising that he (Fess) cared a blame sight less about the president's own welfare, or his party's, than he cared for his own (Fess's) senatorial prospects next year, which he probably figured—so the cynics opined—would be materially improved by a renewal of the Coolidge candidacy at the same time.

This was not a nice interpretation to put upon Senator Fess' attitude, but unfortunately it is not illogical from the standpoint of politicians who incline to impute selfish motives to others.

Painful as it is to record, President Coolidge was one of those who suspected, at least, that Senator Fess was speaking about two dozen words for himself and only one word for him (the president) in all that talk about "drafting" him in 1928.

We know this is so, because the president accused Fess of it point blank. We know that, too, because Fess testifies to it, and it wouldn't be like him to make such a thing up.

Fess called at the executive offices a few days ago—with not an inkling that anything was wrong—to discuss a little matter of Ohio patronage, so he said. He entered all smiles. He came out red as a beet, and obviously much perturbed. Asked what was the matter, he told.

However, Fess stands pat. Even if it ends their friendship, he says he'll continue to insist on the "drafting" program in 1928.

That ought to prove he's disinterested.

GOOD CAUSE

"Where are you off to in such a hurry?"
"The hat of the man behind has blown off."

"What does that matter to you, that you are running, too?"
"I have got it on."

Powerful Stuff!

A federal prohibition agent, who formerly worked in Harlem, the largest negro community in the world, told us this one:
Two negro moonshiners were discussing the merits and strength of their products.
"Ah makes mah licker strong," declared one, "dat when yo' drinks it, yo' can dose smell de cornfield whar dat corn was growin'."

"Humph! Nigger, dat ain' nothin' to put upon Senator Fess' attitude, but unfortunately it is not illogical from the standpoint of politicians who incline to impute selfish motives to others.

"The woman whose beauty is transcendent is almost always set apart from her kind, and you will find her to be a selfish kind of a human, expecting all those who come near her to minister to her vanity. Without compliment and flattery, she is unhappy.

The woman who goes in for goodness in such a serious manner that she loses her sense of humor is apt to be too good for human nature's daily food. She, too, walls around and apart from her fellows.

"And so I would pray, 'Lord, keep my feet on the ground, even though I rise my head to the stars. Let me understand that it is not those who think great things who accomplish most, but those who work hardest and never tire."

"Let me realize that when I feel I am most righteous, then is the time I am most unrighteous, then is the time I am most vulnerable to temptation."

"Lord, make me understand that individually one accomplishes little; that humanity is gregarious and only when that which the individual conceived is made possible through the efforts of the many is the world moved."

"I do not want to stand apart from my fellows. I want to be interested in all the little things that interest humanity."

Memo: Be an all-around woman, commonplace, if you will, but having more than a modicum of commonsense and understanding.

I Have Said in My Heart

By IDAH MCGLONE GIBSON

MEDICRITY

"If I had only one prayer that could be answered," said a clever woman to me the other day, "I would ask: 'Lord, make me an all-around woman!'"

"Just what do you mean by that?" I questioned.

"Well," she answered, "I would not care to have so much beauty that my friends would envy me, so much brains that they would be afraid of me. Indeed, I would not care to be so spiritual that I would feel myself set apart from my every-day fellows."

"Does that mean that you want to be commonplace?" was my question.

"Perhaps." Then seeing that I looked rather incredulous, she continued: "After all, aren't the common place people much the happiest? They are the ones who travel along life, without asking great things of life, contrive to be pretty content with whatever each day brings forth."

"The all-around person is he whose feet are on the ground, whose work is devoid of illusions and above and beyond all, whose plan of living and being lies within the practicability of every-day life."

Peter's Adventures

By Mrs. Florence Smith Vincent

Who Goes There?

It was a very mournful boy, indeed, who sat on the gray mound in the moonlit clearing and rubbed a head that ached from the bump it had received. But it was a brave boy as well.

Peter bit his lip when he felt it begin to quiver and peered searchingly about him. After all, 'twas only a dog that was howling so dimly. And a dog was nothing to a Two-Legs to be afraid of. Why, indeed, should a Two-Legs fear any creature of the Woods? Peter remembered he could speak to the woods folks in their own language, and he had met a lot of them and never had any trouble with them yet. Most of them were really fine fellows when one got acquainted.

Besides, there must be a short cut out of the Great Woods, and a fellow could find it if only he kept his head. Suddenly Peter thought of something else, and he jumped to his feet, waving his arms in his excitement.

"Whoopie!" cried Peter, his fear all gone. "I had almost forgotten the lizard's tail. No beast that flies or crawls or walks would hurt me while I have that bit of magic in my pocket."

"No, nor 'tis not likely that any of them would hurt you without it," remarked a voice in a squeak so like Batt's own that Peter thought the fellow must have been lent and come back to help him.

"Hello, old chap!" cried the boy. "You are a good sort after all. Batt. I did think you were a mean to go off and leave me all alone. But I see now you were only teasing me. Tell me, do, which turn I shall take to get into the clover field that lies to the right of the old brown farmhouse by the brook? I am not afraid any more, but just the same I'd feel more comfortable if I was out of these shadows."

The welcome squeak had sounded very near his ear, and Peter had turned in its direction. No Batt there! The boy whirled around. No furry flier hovered over his head.

head or flitted in the moonlight above him. But there on the ground at his feet hobbled a clumsy shape. It was small and dark, and not at all like Batt, and it was half walking, half flopping straight toward the boy. Peter stepped back, startled.

"Who goes there?" demanded he.

EAST HIGH PRIMED FOR COVINGTON, KY., GAME ON SATURDAY

Facing the hardest game of its schedule, the East High School football team is training hard this week for its encounter with Covington, Ky., Saturday, October 29, at Cox Memorial Athletic Field.

Many new formations and changes will be noticed in this week's game. Barring injuries in practice, all regulars will be on hand to play and the return of "Bud" Hurst to the backfield has brought joy to the followers of East High.

Rice and Carter have been sparkling at center this year dividing time and honors at that position. With James Smith and Al Hall returning to the line with hold time form, the tackle positions have been strengthened and with Red Parker and Baber at the guards, the line will be intact.

Some changes will be made in the backfield and wing positions, with Capt. Hamilton, "Big Bill" Smith, G. Smith, Garrett, Hurst, Bill Parker, Graves, White and Buford performing in these positions.

The strength of Covington High is not to be underestimated, for it possesses some fine football products and has been a menace to all of Kentucky teams this year. This team is coached by "Chief" Redden, who starred for Wilberforce University in football and basketball several years ago, and he is priming his team hard to throw a hammer in the coogs of East High's undefeated football machine.

Pre-game enthusiasm in the Xenia-Withrow football game Friday afternoon at Cox Memorial Athletic Field was stimulated at a special "pep" assembly of the high school student body in Jean B. Elwell Auditorium Thursday morning.

A brief talk by George Geyer, Central alumnus, prominent Xenia business man and enthusiastic football fan, was a feature of the assembly. Mr. Geyer confined his remarks to reminiscences of school eleven of former years and recollections of the high school spirit in the past.

E. G. Whitworth, member of the faculty, also talked briefly regarding the Withrow game.

Students were led in cheering by William Horner, an alumnus cheer leader of the class of 1925.

FORTY MERCHANTS TO CLOSE FOR GAME

Forty of the leading business firms of the city have agreed to close for two hours Friday afternoon to permit employees to attend the Xenia-Withrow High School football game at Cox Memorial Athletic Field, it is announced.

Business houses, practically without exception, were enthusiastic over the proposal and the attendance at the game will be easily the largest of the season, it is predicted.

Places of business will be closed from 2:30 to 4:30 o'clock. The game will begin at 2:45.

County offices in the Court House will also close for the afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, with authorization of County Commissioners.

It is also being requested that flags be displayed Friday afternoon by business firms.

COON HUNTERS TO HOLD FIELD TRIALS

Third annual field trials, sponsored by the South Central Coon Hunters' Association, will be held Saturday October 29 at the Willard Collins Grove, eight miles west of Washington, C. H., on state route No. 38, near Buena Vista, it is announced.

The grand champion prize of 40 percent of the total receipts, will be split three ways—first, 50 percent; second, 30 percent; third, 20 percent. Attractive prizes are also offered for heat winners. Jack pots are optional.

Two classes are scheduled, including the young dog class—any dog up to and including two years old; and the all-age class, all dogs more than two years of age.

Central High School's prospects of defeating Coach Nelson Walke's Withrow High "Tigers" from Cincinnati Friday afternoon at Cox Memorial Athletic Field, were considerably increased Wednesday when the suspension on William Clemans, veteran player, was lifted by Coach Victor Kolb.

Return of Clemans to practice for the first time in more than a week Wednesday afternoon was hailed with delight by football fans and students alike.

Clemans had been handicapped during the early part of the season by an injury to the ankle but is now in excellent physical condition. The remainder of the squad is also in fine shape.

The Blue and White expects to present the most diversified attack of the season against the East Siders Friday and Coach Kolb has reserved a few trick plays up his sleeve to be used for the first time against Withrow. He is hinting that Clemans may be used at end in Friday's game.

PETITION COUNTY FOR LUCAS DITCH

Petition for construction of another single county ditch, to be known as the Lucas ditch, in Silvercreek and Jefferson Twp., has been filed with County Commissioners.

The proposed ditch will be three miles in length, beginning 500 feet south of the Plymouth Road and extending to the Burr Road.

The petition pointed out that construction of the ditch would be beneficial to a number of land owners.

The petitioners also filed bond of $350. The bond was signed by B. B. Stackhouse, W. G. Turner, Stephen Garringer, Elsie A. W. F. Lewis and J. A. Brakelield.

NOW COSHOCTON TO HAVE "WHITE WAY"

COSHOCTON, O., Oct. 27—Coshocton plans to have a "white way" lighting system.

Thirty officials of the city, business men and others inspected Cambridge's white way system, said to be the best on the National Road outside the metropolitan area.

Tuesday night and were favorably impressed.

The city planned to install such a system two years ago but could not on account of the condition of the city's finances, but the mayor and councilmen said they believed Coshocton would install the system soon.

Kidney and bladder irritations often result from acidity, says a noted authority. The kidneys help filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it may remain to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obligating you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

The sufferer is in constant dread; the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in voiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is often one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Begin drinking lots of soft water also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast. Continue this for two or three days. This will help neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer are a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs, which then act normal again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by acid irritation. Jad Salts caused no bad effects whatsoever.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink which may quickly relieve your bladder irritation.

CHIROPRACTY BILL DISCUSSED HERE BY AKRON LEGISLATOR

The proposed bill, providing for a separate board of examiners for chiropractors which will be an issue at the coming election, was discussed by Henry S. Davidson, Akron, member of the state legislature, at a special meeting of the Greene County Medical Society, in the Court House, Wednesday evening.

The Greene County medical organization went on record as opposed to the bill.

The speaker gave a history of the efforts to obtain the passage of a similar bill by the Ohio Legislature over a period of twelve years and explained that in every attempt the bill went down to defeat. The present bill, he said, when voted on by the House, received thirty-one out of a possible 135 votes.

The proponents interested in the bill seek to treat all diseases and injuries after a shorter course in a chiropractic school. Davidson said.

He explained further that chiropractors now are examined by the same board which examines twelve other classes of limited practitioners. Whether the initiative bill to be voted on is passed or defeated, the status of chiropractors now practicing will not be affected, he said. Under the present laws, chiropractors are only permitted to treat bone ailments which are not infectious or contagious.

ONLY NEED WEATHER TO BRING SUCCESS

If the weather man is kind and continues the perfect brand of fall weather that has prevailed for the last week, Xenia will have a Halloween carnival Saturday night that will bring masked revellers from all parts of the county.

Booster delegations have visited all of the smaller towns in the county advertising the event and inviting the people of these localities to join in the big frolic here Saturday night. It is expected that visitors from all of the towns visited will be present and take part in the big parade.

Members of the band who have solicited prizes for the various events say that the local merchants have been generous in their donations and it will be well worth while to take part in the contests.

The parade will form at seven o'clock and will cover the downtown district. Every one who is in costume is asked to get into the parade. Following the parade the big masked dance will take place at the Junior Order Hall.

OFFICIAL ARGUMENTS EXPLAIN BOTH SIDES OF MARSHALL BILL

The Marshall Bill, is easily the most discussed question to come before the voters in Ohio this year. It is a bill designed to re-establish the powers of justices of the peace, which were considerably curtailed by the United States Supreme Court decision in the celebrated Tumey case, when the court held the Ohio justice law was unconstitutional because the fees depended upon a conviction and he was therefore interested in the outcome of the case he was trying. Governor Vic Donahey, refusing to give his approval to the measure, also refused to veto the bill and it would have become a law had not Senator George Bender, Cleveland, supported by automobile clubs over Ohio, filed petitions with sufficient names to demand a referendum on the bill. The bill is given over to provisions which regulate fees for the justice, mayor, constable or other court officers while the section under discussion represents only a small portion of the bill. It provides that the justice or mayor shall file a schedule of fees with the county treasurer each month and the sum equal to the fees charged, whether collected from the defendant or charged against the state.

The amount of fees the justice can receive is limited to $250 a month, $175 for a constable or marshal and $150 a month for a special constable or special marshal. Here are the official arguments for and against the bill, just as they have been approved by state authorities:

ARGUMENT FOR IT

The official argument for the bill as filed with the secretary of state of Ohio follows:
You should vote "YES" on this law for the following reasons:
Amended Senate Bill No. 72, the Marshall Bill, was passed by the Ohio Legislature to eliminate temptation on the part of justices of the peace and mayors to convict in order to get their fees. After the introduction and before the passage of this bill, the United States Supreme Court rendered a decision holding that inferior courts can not sit in the trial cases in which they are interested in the result from the standpoint of either fees or fines. The Marshall Law is in perfect harmony with that decision, and to give mayors and justices jurisdiction in accordance with that decision, this law must be approved.

The purpose of this referendum is to break down enforcement of prohibition laws. The Marshall Law is needed to secure proper enforcement of such laws as well as of other laws. This statement is borne out by the annual report of State Prohibition Commissioner McDonald.

This is not a salary law. The magistrate is paid from the county treasury only for work done, his compensation ranging from nothing to not to exceed $250 per month. Another law distributing minor fines, one-half to county, one-half to state, will produce ample revenue to operate under the Marshall Law without any additional levy.

The Marshall Law will in no way affect traffic violations, and propaganda to influence the vote of automobile drivers is unjust and false since justices' courts do not have final jurisdiction in traffic cases. Those most vitally interested in the defeat of this law are bootleggers and their friends. The same crowd is backing this referendum that has opposed dry forces in every Ohio campaign for a quarter of a century. Vote "YES."

L. T. MARSHALL, Senator for 5th, 6th District.
ALTON H. ETTLING, Senator for 17, 18, 19 and 28th District.
JAMES A. WHITE, Former Sup. of Ohio Anti-Saloon League and Ohio Dry Federation. Committee appointed by the governor.

ARGUMENT AGAINST

The official argument against the bill as filed with the secretary of state of Ohio follows:
The Act is vicious because it violates the fundamental rule that judicial officers must have no interest in cases tried by them. It flouts the United States Supreme Court decision (Tumey case) rendered last March wherein the mayor's pecuniary personal interest and "his official motive to convict and graduate the fine to help the financial needs of the village" were held unconstitutional—violating "due process of law" clause. The Marshall Act has similar objections. Its concluding paragraph provides the monthly maximum compensation to justices, mayors, marshals and deputies shall be paid only when "earned" within the month. Past performance indicates this maximum will be "earned" by the necessary number of raids, whether well or ill-founded. As stated by Governor Donahey, the Marshall Act offers additional incentive "to arrest on mere suspicion in doubtful cases to profit by the assessment of fees, whether the case results in conviction or acquittal." Thus, if there be conviction the locality is in pocket; if acquittal the locality is out by the fee taxed to the county general fund; but in either event the forcing officials are ahead. Will such conditions make for impartial justice? What about the principle reiterated by Chief Justice Taft: "No matter what the evidence against him, the defendant had the right to an impartial judge."

Laws are made to protect the innocent as well as to punish the guilty. Public records show one-fourth of the 4,000 raids made on private residences by State Commissioner McDonald's department in a single year were groundless, causing innocent persons to be subjected to outrages and brutalities. Figures on "Kangaroo" courts with deputies composed in many instances of thugs, thieves and ex-convicts (logical successors to infamous "card" men, discarded under pressure of public opinion) cannot be conjectured. Ohio must not again experience magistrates issuing blank arrest and search warrants to be filled in later by petty deputies.

The fee system of compensation to judicial officials invites cupidity and injustice follows. This has been the case with automobiles caught in speed traps and tried by road courts or those who have had their cars searched and seized on the plea of contraband liquor. Automobileists hailed the decision of Chief Justice Taft as a relief from graft and holdout. Shall the decision now be annulled by the Marshall Act?

To arouse prejudice rather than invoke reasoning, the assertion has been made and will continue to be made that this controversy is a "wet and dry" fight. If at all, it is such only because Anti-Saloon League officials fostered and drove the Marshall Act through the legislature. Many independent "drys" realize that the raids practiced for private profit discredited prohibition enforcement and that a return of those conditions will be intolerable. No honest man or woman can defend the pernicious system of commercialized courts. To return them by approval of the Marshall Act would be a lasting disgrace to the State. The "NO" vote in November, already reflected in press opinion, must be decisive and instructive to the legislature to head the voice of the people, and not the dictation of Anti-Saloon League officials. Willful men who would deliberately defile our court system and that in defiance of a ruling of the supreme court of the land deserve public condemnation and emphatic rebuke.

GEORGE H. BENDER, NELS J. JOHNSON, M. E. WOLGAMOT, M. B. CAIN, CHARLES C. JAMES, Committee.

ASK FOR
"AD TAKER"ALIMONY IS PLAGUE
ASSERT PAYERS WHO ORGANIZE PROTEST

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—"Alimony is the plague of the country. There are only two ways to beat it: Have oodles of money or die."

Speaking feelingly and with deep conviction, John G. Gastiger, an authority on alimony, made these remarks in an interview today. He is head of the alimony payers' protective association, composed of men who believe they got a raw deal from Dan Cupid and the courts.

Tonight they will hold a public meeting in town hall to arrange plans for their campaign against designing women. Their purpose, Gastiger said, is "to create public sentiment, promote legislation and aid in litigation to stop 'gold diggers,' crooked attorneys, perjurers, 'framing' detective agencies and politically controlled judges from profiteering on their victims." Their organization has a membership of 1,100 and is growing.

"I eat, sleep and drink alimony," said Gastiger, who declared he lost a $4,000,000 grain business defending forty-four pieces of litigation brought by his wife, Henrietta Schriber Gastiger.

He has paid $12,400 alimony in the last four years; has been arrested eleven times because of differences with his wife, and has served eleven months in jail for refusing to make certain payments of alimony.

"All over the country there are thousands of men in the same boats we are in—victims of designing wives," said Gastiger. "But we are organizing against them and will win out in the end."

"There is too much 'shaking down' of men with money. Why, there is an army of childless divorced women living in luxury on the revenue of alimony."

"Take the case of Edward W. 'Daddy' Browning. He told me the other day that 'Peaches' hooked him for $12,000 temporary alimony and $8,500 counsel fees. Yet when Justice Seeger heard the case he decided she shouldn't get a cent. I tell you temporary alimony is all wrong!"

"We are not opposed to the awarding of alimony. In some cases especially where children are involved, alimony should be paid. But we are against the indiscriminate awarding of alimony and counsel fees."

Gastiger said he is constantly receiving encouraging letters from men all over the country who recognize the alimony "evil."

"I received two very fine letters from Charlie Chaplin, who lauded the purpose of our organization," he asserted.

Women are finding it harder to get alimony since the alimony payers' organization started its work, he said. Judges are examining claims of wives more closely and, according to Gastiger, "Awards of alimony and counsel fees are half what they were a year or two ago." His organization is out to ex-

WIFE PRESERVERS

Keep wallpaper in the basement for a few days before applying to your walls. It will absorb moisture and be easier to handle.

JOHN MOORE, New York business man, goes to Tucson, Ariz., on business, expecting to return to New York the next day. He meets a college associate, Philip Morton, who has business in Mexico. Both drink heavily of tequila and in the subsequent mixup in identity Moore finds himself in Mexico.

Here he meets the girl—Ruth Henshaw—who needs his help. He also meets her uncle, Barton Henshaw, as well as Roderiquez, Lopez, Clinch, Ramon, the Ambassador, and Wong, the Chinese cook. John finds that Morton is involved in an arms plot with Henshaw and his friends and is warned to get Ruth out of the country. First Clinch, then Wong are murdered, and John flees the country on horseback with Ruth. They take refuge in a cave.

Stew and Beechy, friends of Ruth's with whom John drank tequila in Tucson, rescue them.

The Theater

What is the best picture of the present year? Or, if there's a distinction, what is the best Paramount picture? With ten months of 1927 gone, eyes of movie fans as of all other persons are turned toward the new year and speculating on the final estimate of the job just being completed.

And in the field of Paramount land, who played Armand opposite moving pictures, the eagerness is Miss Talmadge in "Camille" in the particularly intense just now. The supporting role, "The Woman Dis- championship race is on for a puted" was adapted by Mike Levee grand prize of a gold medal and in collaboration with Agnes Chris- tine Johnston from Dennison Clift's successful Broadway play.

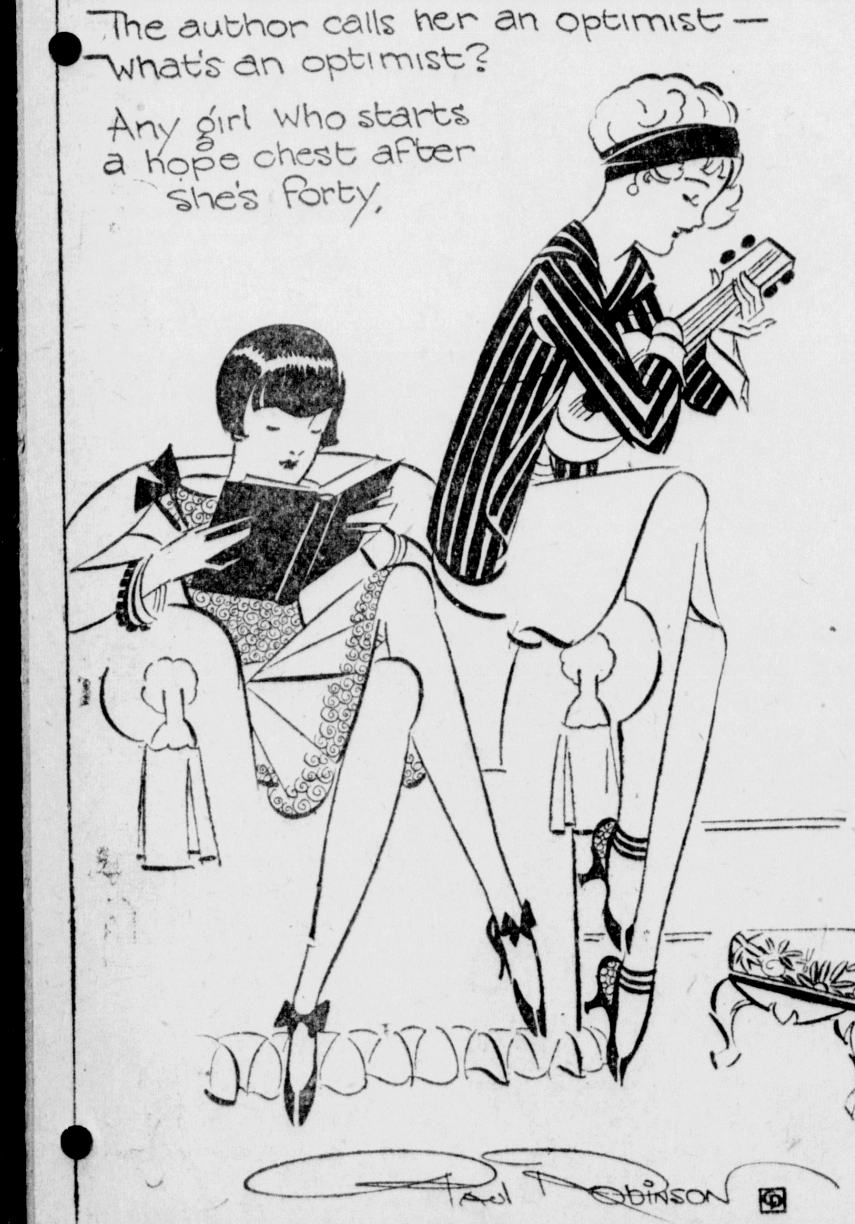

You hear a lot of talk about "sleepers" at the race track. Here's a sleeper from movieland. First name, Martha. She's a part of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. The dog? Just a cotton poodle.

Production has just started on Paramount's spectacular new picture, "The Legion of the Condemned," the sequel of the air epic "Wings." The story was written by John Monk Saunders and is directed by William Wellman, the author and director of the companion piece, Gary Cooper is the star of the picture.

Norma Talmadge's second United Artists feature, will be "The Woman Disputed," which is scheduled to start production a few days before Christmas, with Gilbert Ro-

Because Mr. and Mrs. Sam Smith, parents of Cleveland's "puzzle baby," have been unable to decide upon a name for the child which they at first believed was a boy, after its birth in a Cleveland hospital, newspaper readers throughout the country, through Central Press have suggested names for the child who was called "George," at birth. "Georganna," "Georgie," and "George Elliston" are among those submitted.

DAYTON MAN KILLED BETWEEN TWO CARS IN RAILROAD YARDS

Native Of Spring Valley Crushed To Death While at Work

Crushed beneath the wheels of a Pennsylvania freight train, S. Webb Houston, 57, railroad brakeman, 113 Illinois Ave., Dayton, a native of Spring Valley, was fatally injured while at work in the rear of the Dayton 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. He died in a police emergency car while being rushed to Miami Valley Hospital.

Houston was engaged with a crew, which was making up a train on the Pennsylvania lines east of the E. Fifth St. crossing when he was accidentally caught between two cars.

Two wheels of a coal car passed over his body but he was still alive when fellow workmen extricated him from beneath the train. Placed in a police car, Houston was dead before officers carried him to the hospital receiving ward.

His right arm and side were crushed by the wheels and he was unconscious when fellow workmen reached him.

Houston, in the past, is said to have sustained several minor injuries while employed on the railroad. His leg was injured a year ago.

Houston had been employed for the Pennsylvania Co. for the last twenty-five years. He was born in Spring Valley and moved to Dayton at the age of 30. He is survived by his widow, Amanda, and one daughter, Leona.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed. The body was removed to the Morris and Sons funeral home.

OHIO FILM CENSORS BAR FIGHT MOVIE

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 27.—Basing its action upon a special opinion given the board by Attorney General Edward C. Turner, the Board of Film Censorship of the State Department of Education, today denied its approval to the showing of the Dempsey-Tunney prize-fight film.

Turner ruled that while there is no specific Ohio law prohibiting the showing of prize-fight pictures, to permit their exhibition within the state would be "a gross abuse of discretion and contrary to the public policy."

SURVIVORS OF SHIP TRAGEDY NEAR PORT ON RESCUE VESSELS

Believe Captain Lost With Ship Off Brazil Coast

RIO DE JANEIRO, Oct. 27.—Captain Simone Gugli, and many of his officers, probably went down with their ship, the Princess Mafalda when the vessel foundered off the coast of Brazil Tuesday night, according to an announcement made by the Navigazione Generale Italiana, the ship's owners, today.

The offices of the Navigazione Generale Italiana stated they had received many reports of Captain Gugli standing on the bridge of his sinking ship, directing the work of rescuing passengers and crew, but as yet they have not received any word of his rescue by any of the five ships that picked up survivors of the wreck.

Other officers who are still reported missing are Chief Engineer Scarbithi, First Officer Moresco, Ship Surgeon Dr. Fizaroli, and Purser Longordine.

First survivors of the wreck are due to arrive here late this afternoon on the British steamer Avelon. Other vessels will arrive in Bahia tonight.

The government has taken measures to house the survivors and it is anticipated that an inquiry into the sinking of the vessel may be undertaken tomorrow, probably by the Italian embassy, since the wreck occurred outside of the territorial waters of Brazil.

ROME, Oct. 27.—With latest information placing the number of missing in the sinking of the Princess Mafalda at sixty-eight, general relief was felt here today.

However, anxious lines of relatives and friends of the crew and passengers aboard the Mafalda maintained their night-long vigil at the offices of the Navigazione Generale Italiana and at newspapers.

Definite official figures were lacking in all quarters where the report of Captain Simone Gali was awaited anxiously.

Premier Mussolini personally requested the Italian Commandant of the Clano to keep him constantly informed of the latest bulletins. Clano said:

"While we deplore the accident we are thankful that another terrible marine disaster was averted by the promptness with which ships in the vicinity rushed to answer the distress calls of the Mafalda."

The Vatican requested the papal nuncios at Rio De Janeiro and Buenos Aires to forward the names of priests aboard the Mafalda.

Newspapers published editorials counselling the people to bear up under a tragedy which could have been worse.

SENATOR CURTIS IS LATEST CANDIDATE FOR PRESIDENCY

Kansas Solon First To Announce His Inten- tion To Run

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—Announcement that he would be candidate for the 1928 presidential nomination was made by Senator Charles Curtis, Kansas, Republican leader, to Kansas friends, Wednesday.

The announcement was embodied in a letter to Roy L. Bone, Topeka, Kan., president of the Curtis for President club of that city, and was the first definite declaration of intention by any of the numerous Republicans, who have been talked of as candidates since President Coolidge made his August statement that he did not "choose" to run.

Mr. Curtis made it clear that he would run only as a candidate in his own right. Curtis is counted as an administration stalwart in his capacity as leader of the Republicans in the senate.

"I will not allow myself to be used as a 'stalking horse' for anyone," the veteran legislator and former Kansas prosecutor said. "I will not consent to become a candidate if the delegation is to be selected with the view of voting for me a few ballots as a 'favorite son.'"

Ship Victims Tell Of Terrors

RIO DE JANEIRO, Oct. 27.—First accounts of the sea tragedy which on Tuesday evening sent more than 1000 passengers aboard the Italian liner Princess Mafalda rushing in terror to the lifeboats or over the side into the waters of the south Atlantic, when the vessel began to sink, reached here today.

They were wireless to the International News Service by two survivors who were picked up by the Greek ship Pera.

They described graphically the horror which burst suddenly upon the passengers enjoying their evening meal; the terror following explosions below decks; the panicky inquisitiveness of the women who would not be quieted by repeated assurances of the ship's officers; the wailing of little children in the darkness; and the final mad rush to the boats and water below.

"The first explosion," the survivors said, "came during the third class dinner hour. Immediately everyone rushed to decks, excitedly asking if the ship was sinking. Horror and fear gripped the passengers in spite of efforts of the officers who explained that there was a little trouble in the engine room which will soon be repaired."

Then a panic ensued, especially among the women emigrants. Mothers, with wailing children clutching their skirts, screamed and joined the general rush of the third class passengers of the second class deck.

"Officers and crew did their best to prevent the fear-stricken from leaping overboard without life preservers. They worked heroically to calm the frightened crowd."

"Soon two more explosions shook the ship and she began to settle by the stern."

"The night was pitch dark and in the blackness tumult reigned. Women collapsed. Men aided the sailors to lower the boats and place life preservers upon the women."

"When the boats were swung, the women and children were placed aboard first. Some men attempted to get aboard, but when they saw there was not enough room in the boats for all at the moment, they took refuge on the life rafts."

"The work of swinging and lowering the boats was most difficult due to the inky blackness of the night. The crew worked manfully to accommodate all the passengers and the stewards struggled to calm hysterical women and children. Only drinking water was placed in the boats, as the crew knew the coast was not far away."

"Soon afterwards a light was seen on the horizon. It was the Formosa. Later the British vessel Rosetti arrived and by agreement, one vessel picked up all those in life boats and the crews of the other ships took care of those floating about on rafts or preservers."

"For five hours the Mafalda remained afloat, and then, after another explosion, she sank. A mighty wave was thrown up as she disappeared below the surface."

"The women and children were rescued first and most of them muttered prayers of thankfulness."

THIS MAKE THEM LIGHT-HEADED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—Approximately 14,000,000 women in the United States have bobbed their hair, according to Miss Gertrude Lane, a magazine editor, who spoke before the American Association of Advertising Agencies here.

If all that short hair were put on the scales, she estimated, it would weigh 3,400 tons.

Miss Lane estimated that America women spend $1,800,000,000 a year keeping themselves beautiful, a sum equivalent to the total national debt of several small European countries.

PROSECUTION NEAR
END OF SUBMITTING
EVIDENCE AT TRIAL

Transfer Of Liberty Bonds One Of Last Points To Prove

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—The prosecution in the Fall-Sinclair conspiracy trial planned to open the second phase of its case against the former secretary of interior and the New York oil magnate today.

Only a few little ends of the government's case to prove that Albert B. Fall and Harry F. Sinclair negotiated a lease on the Teapot Dome naval oil reserve under conditions embodying the greatest secrecy remain to be presented to the jury. Today Owen J. Roberts, federal counsel, will begin the examination of witnesses who know about the deal wherein it is alleged over a quarter million dollars in liberty bonds passed from Sinclair to Fall in remuneration for the lease.

This charge in the indictment admittedly can be proved only by circumstantial evidence, as two key witnesses have fled to Europe and are defying the government, while a third, believed to be in Canada, cannot be found.

The government charges that Sinclair and certain associates, including the three missing men, formed a dummy oil company, purchased 33,000,000 barrels of oil at $1.50 per barrel and promptly sold the oil to Sinclair-Controlled Companies at $1.75—all this without the putting up of a cent by the dummy company which was incorporated as "The Continental Trading Company of Canada."

The profits of this deal were converted into serially numbered liberty bonds and deposited in a Canadian bank. Shortly thereafter, Henry S. Osler, Canadian attorney who can not now be found, withdrew $230,500 worth and took them to New York. At the same time, E. C. Everhart, Fall's son-in-law, came east to New York, and when he returned west he deposited in Colorado and New Mexico banks to Fall's credit the same serially numbered bonds that Osler had brought down from Canada.

The defense contends that H. M. Blackmer, oil man who in Paris, alone formed the Continental Trading Company, and that Sinclair came into the deal solely as a agent for his companies seeking to buy the oil at $1.75. They say Sinclair never got a cent of the continental profits. The closest the government can come to proving otherwise is that Sinclair's name appears on the continental's contract with Col. Humphreys, original owner of the 33,000,000 barrels of oil—that is, unless Col. Robert Stewart, president of the Standard Oil of Indiana, whose name also appears on the contract, testifies otherwise. Stewart is a new witness and nothing is known of his testimony.

As for Fall, the defense will remain silent. They will neither admit nor deny the fact Fall got the bonds, but demand that the government link them up with the Teapot Dome. Everhart is expected to take the stand and refuse to testify on the grounds he might incriminate himself. Fall does not have to testify; neither does Sinclair.

STATE WITNESS FOR BANK ROBBERY CASE UNABLE TO APPEAR

Witness Has Moved From State—Defense Side Heard

BUYRUS, O., Oct. 27.—Trial of Wilbur Hand charged with complicity in the $175,000 robbery of the Commercial Savings Bank of Gallon, continued here today, although one of the state's chief witnesses failed to take the stand when called late Wednesday. Later development indicated that the witness, D. O. Osborn, manager of the City Service Oil Company of Gallon, moved to Kansas City, Mo., with his family, four days after having been served with a subpoena by Sheriff Ulmer.

Osborn is said to have been in the bank conversing with Cashier E. B. Beall when the robbers entered. Beall testified Wednesday that Hand was the man who forced him into a small room and kept guard over him while the other men searched the bank. Hand was also identified by Miss Louise Farnes who walked into the bank during the robbery.

Defense witnesses took the stand late Wednesday. Their testimony tended to show that Hand was in Toledo at the time of the robbery. One of the chief alibi witnesses was Larry Bevan, former assistant U. S. district attorney. He testified that he had purchased a newspaper extra telling of the robbery, and that while doing so he met Hand and his companion, Harry Zillick.

Zillick is also charged with complicity in the robbery and is to be tried following the present hearing.

Others of Hand's alibi witnesses were: Miss Mary Lockard, bookkeeper, and John Banks, car washer in the garage where Hand kept his auto.

The state will make no attempt to bring Osborn here for the Hand trial, it was said today, though it is believed he will be ordered to appear for the Zillick trial.

AKRON, O., Oct. 27.—Police and detectives today were searching for the slayer of a woman, believed to be Elizabeth Burke, 39, of Aultman, Ohio, whose body was found in an alley here last night.

The woman's throat had been slashed. A ten-year-old boy who is said to have accompanied the woman here from Aultman, was held by police. He gave a description of a man who he claimed attacked the woman.

CONFESSION OF BANK CASHIER READ INTO RECORDS OF TRIAL

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, O., Oct. 27.—Confession of Cashier William Thomas, former cashier of the Bridgeport Banking Company, now on trial for making false reports, following the crash of the bank, was read into the court records here today.

The alleged confession, said to have been made several weeks ago, declared that Thomas was willing to plead guilty to a charge of falsifying the bank's record, but that Thomas had no idea the sum of $300,000, the sum alleged in the shortage report.

"I am willing to plead guilty to making false entries and to falsifying the bank's records," the confession read by Prosecutor Paul Waddell, into the court records declared, "but I will not plead guilty to taking the money myself."

Waddell asked Thomas how he made his books balance. "By retaining ledger sheets until they did," Thomas replied, according to Waddell.

LEGISLATIVE TAX MEASURES TO INCREASE STATE TREASURY

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 27.—Estimates that taxation measures enacted at the last session of the Ohio Legislature will result in an increase annually of approximately $1,700,000 in corporation franchise taxes and about $1,500,000 in insurance fees, over the amounts paid into the state treasury last year, are contained in a joint statement submitted today to Governor Veto Donahy by Wilbur E. Baker, State Finance Director, and Merlin Breneman, State Budget Commissioner.

The report deals with the condition of the state's finances during the months of July, August and September, last.

These taxation measures boosted the corporation franchise tax and raised the rate on gross premiums of foreign insurance companies from 1.2 to three per cent.

Baker and Breneman told the governor that state general revenue fund receipts during the three months aggregated $10,499,541.53, of which amount $5,382,256.06 was received from domestic and foreign franchise taxes. There remained a balance of uncollected franchise taxes for this year amounting to $807, 923.92, it was stated. Corpora-

BILL STULTZ SEVERS CONNECTIONS WITH FLIGHT TO DENMARK

Alleged Criticism By Aviatrix Blamed For Rift In Crew

OLD ORCHARD, Me., Oct. 27.—"Bill" Stultz, pilot of "The Dawn," Mrs. Frances Wilson Grayson's amphibian trans-Atlantic plane, will fly the ship in a test flight today but only because he feels that until he has officially severed his connections with the projected flight to Copenhagen, it is his duty to handle the controls when the occasion arises.

Stultz tendered his resignation from the Grayson expedition yesterday after the publication of alleged remarks by Mrs. Grayson, which in effect said he had assumed command and headed the ship for land when it was off Sable Island in fog last Sunday. After a discussion of his resignation to night with Mrs. Grayson, Stultz agreed to remain with the party temporarily it was said.

Stultz, a pilot of long experience, declared, however, that the agreement to remain with the expedition temporarily did not nullify his resignation which is still in the hands of Mrs. Grayson. He was emphatic in his denial that he had turned the plane west because he was afraid to battle the fog on the Atlantic.

"I am not yellow," said Stultz, "but I have got a few ounces of the common sense necessary for flying."

"When I nosed the ship west off Sable Island, I did so that I might gain altitude before trying to get over the fog. The assertions credited to Mrs. Grayson which says I turned the ship west against her orders are lies. She was not giving emergency I take orders at a time of emergency from one whose knowledge of aeronautics is limited. Unfortunately, at that time I was banking the ship to get altitude one of the motors went bad. That was a tough break for me. To date I have been on the short end of articles published about what occurred at sea but I'm satisfied to offer my record as an aviator to the world for determination of whether I have got the stuff necessary for trans-Atlantic flying."

The program for "The Dawn" today was crowded. At six a. m. Doc Kincaide, Wright motor expert, jacked her up preparatory to testing the new motor. The engines were to undergo a four hour running test. Mrs. Grayson and Stultz were to go up for a test flight late this afternoon to determine whether the plane is ready for another hopoff for Copenhagen when weather permits.

"Owing to the condition of the state's general revenue fund since the appropriations became available, the controlling board has withheld its approval to the expenditures of practically all the appropriations for the purchase of lands and for other capital outlay items, feeling that the general operating expenses must first be provided for, and that the building program should be deferred until such time as the incoming revenues will be sufficient to meet the contractors' estimates when presented for payment."

ADMIRAL MAGRUDER ASKS PRESIDENT TO REVOKE HIS RECALL

Minority Committee Members Demand Hearing In Case

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—A congressional investigation concerning the efficiency of the navy loomed up today as a probable sequel to the case of Rear Admiral Thomas P. Magruder, who has been relieved of his command at Philadelphia by Secretary of the Navy Wilbur because of his criticism of navy administration.

Admiral Magruder has appealed directly to President Coolidge for revocation of the order issued by Wilbur. The president is expected to receive Magruder's protest late today, and since the order calls him to Washington for an indefinite duty about November 5, an early decision must be made.

Navy chiefs appeared confident that Mr. Coolidge would sustain the order of Secretary Wilbur who acted, however, after a conference with the powerful bureau chiefs of the department. They pointed to the president's support of the war department in the Col. "Billy" Mitchell case and his recent recall of Major-General Summerall from the Pacific coast because of speeches criticizing the administration.

Regardless of the president's action, however, Magruder is expected to have the chance of airing his charges before congressional committees. Chairman Lister of the House Naval Affairs Committee is committed to hearing Magruder. Minority members were understood to be planning to make emphatic demands that he be called. With the experience of the famous Admiral Sims case a poignant memory, Secretary Wilbur and the bureau chiefs have taken a decidedly different course in an effort to settle the "Magruder case."

Although the admiral termed his recall from the Philadelphia post an "insult," Secretary Wilbur insisted that the action was taken "for administrative and not punitive" reasons. The secretary's statement, nevertheless, carried a stinging rebuke.

Wilbur hinted that Magruder might be set to work on a plan to reform the navy when he came to Washington, but said he had not decided upon a definite assignment.

"That will depend upon my confidence with him," he said, adding that "any request by Admiral Magruder will be given consideration."

The navy secretary also refused to say that court-martial charges would not be filed against the admiral later. He asserted that he is more interested just now "in ascertaining whether or not the navy can benefit by Admiral Magruder's knowledge or experience in regard to naval organization and naval economy."

Bureau chiefs, however, were frank in their hostility toward Magruder for his articles in a magazine and his subsequent newspaper interviews. They did not regard his charges of too many navy yards and high cost of repairs so seriously because they blame "political appropriations" for the navy's financial straits. They were aroused, though by Magruder's charges that there are too many "desk admirals" in Washington and too much red tape throughout the navy.

Publication of correspondence between Secretary Wilbur and Magruder revealed a long list of inaccuracies were charged to Magruder in his magazine and newspaper statements. The veteran admiral, however, refused to retract in any major instance. He clung tenaciously to his charges that the navy was "spending $300,000,000 and get $200,000,000 worth of navy."

Those under arrest are: William Williams, 31, a former guard at Warrensville; Mrs. Dora Williams and Mrs. Genevieve Hurley. According to detectives, the women sold morphine to the guard who, in turn, sold it to prisoners.

(IN THREE PARTS)

-by- Aesop Jr.

In 1456 A. D., there appeared in Andalusia, a town lying in the very center of Ramosis, a strange looking individual named Rawlins, who claimed to be able to make bows and arrows, not only just as good as the local craftsmen, but for some reason not known to the populace SOLD THEM MUCH CHEAPER than Bows and Arrows had ever been sold before in that town.

When asked how he could do this scientific work at such a price and of such apparently good quality, he explained:

"It is my intention to make ALL THE BOWS AND ARROWS which are sold in this town. Therefore, I can sell them cheaper."

"But how can you make a PROFIT on which to LIVE and EAT and wear clothes during the time it will take before you will get ALL THE TRADE of this town?" he was asked.

"I expect to LOSE money on BOWS AND ARROWS during this time but when I sell a QUIVER (an arrow holder) you will notice that I make a most interesting PROFIT—in fact a splendid PROFIT," he replied.

"But why don't you make just a LITTLE profit on the bows and arrows and also a LITTLE profit on the Quiver and quit taking a loss on all these bows and arrows?" came the query, "like all the rest of our local craftsmen?"

"Hah! Hah!" laughed the stranger. "You are not acquainted with HUMAN NATURE as it really exists. If I did THAT customers would not wear a path to my door but would trade elsewhere."

"Do you expect to keep these SAME prices on Bows and Arrows AFTER you get to be the only BOW AND ARROW MAKER in Andalusia?" persisted the questioner.

"Ah-h-h-h-h," smiled Rawlins, "NOW you are getting close to my heart! Have you ever looked at the Bow and Arrow Business in THIS way?"

Celebrating the financial success of "The Sensations of 1927," the Women's Auxiliary, American Legion, entertained the show cast at dinner at Post Hall, Court House, Wednesday evening.

The guests were seated at one long table, centered with bowls of chrysanthemums. A spirit of hilarity prevailed during the serving of the delicious two-course menu. A short talk, expressing the organization's pleasure over the success of the show and thanking the cast for its cooperation, was given by Mrs. G. N. Pillsbury, president of the Auxiliary. The response was made by Mr. Reddy Owens, author and director of the show.

The assembly closed the dinner by singing the songs used in the performance and then attended the Charity Fair at the Elks' Club, in celebration of "Sensations' Night."

CASE AGAINST AUTO DRIVER DISMISSED

Shortly before Elmer Smith, colored, Dayton, was to be given a jury trial on a charge of operating an auto while intoxicated, Thursday morning in Probate Court, the case was dismissed by Judge S. C. Wright, on motion of Prosecutor J. C. Marshall.

An entry, dismissing a second charge of reckless driving, pending against Smith, will be placed on file Monday, it was announced.

Under an agreement reached, Smith will pay the costs of the proceedings.

A venire for the jury trial Thursday had been drawn last week but the dismissal of the case was made before a jury had been impaneled.

Smith's arrest was the outgrowth of an auto accident near Cedarville October 4, on affidavits filed by Louis Strewing, near Cedarville. The Dayton man pleaded not guilty to both charges.

were a few of them who left some behind them. One was Dr. A. F. Millemore, of Cottonwood, Minnesota, who increased the gold reserve of the Bank of France to the tune of 415 gold francs.

The cashier could hardly believe his eyes when Dr. Millemore strolled in the bank one morning and produced the sparkling gold coins. The Doctor says he found them while clearing up his estate in Minnesota, and his guess is that they were brought to America by some immigrant from France many years ago.

"Here are five good dollars," he said to his hotel proprietor where he had been well-taken care of during his sojourn in Paris. "I want to reserve that same room during our next convention so take this money."

"Certainly, I shall be delighted," replied the hotelkeeper, "at what date, please?"

"That will be in 1937!"

After a little hesitation, the money was accepted just the same and the Legionnaire went away in full confidence.

The committee of the American Legion which undertook to help put the French people in touch with certain veterans they had known during the war, received many amusing inquiries. The following letter was among them:

"Monsieur the Director: 'Am taking advantage of your kind offer to ask you if an American soldier who lived with my parents a short time before the Armistice, is in the group of Legionnaires. I have corresponded with him a little, but for the moment I have completely forgotten his name, but I am sure it will be easy for you to find him, for he is not very tall and he comes from Texas.'"

WHY PUNISH CHILDREN?

That most children are punished not to make them better but because the parent is angry or has had his ego wounded is revealed by Winthrop D. Lane, the author.

"Parents have certain pictures of themselves," points out Mr. Lane. "Certain conceptions of themselves, and they do not like to have these disturbed. Even a child, if he steps on an adult's ego, is likely to regret it. And then we have to admit that children are nuisances. Love them as we may, cherish them as tenderly as we wish, they annoy us tremendously. They make us climb the stairs at night to give them drinks; they disobey us; they endanger our property by striking matches. They break things—they lose things. They pile all the chairs in one corner of the room and call it a steamboat. They trail mud through the house; they leave marks on the walls. They break out in new misconduct every day. We can not cope with all the varieties of their mischief.

"And so we punish them. We punish them because they make us angry, interfere with our plans and cause us worry. No parent likes to have his day knocked into a cocked hat."

CANCELLING DRIVERS' LICENSE

The California Division of Motor Vehicles cancelled 41 drivers' licenses in two months for offenses running the gamut from false statements made when applying, to various traffic violations. This is the only way reckless, incompetent and criminal automobile drivers can be weeded off our highways.

All the compulsory liability insurance laws in the world cannot have half the effect of such examples of the result of irresponsibility and unworthiness. In this age the auto is a necessity, and a driver will think twice before taking chances when he knows that he runs the risk of having his driver's license revoked.

Compulsory automobile liability insurance is not fair to the companies, or the great majority of drivers, who are sane and careful. A few months of wholesale revocation of licenses when good cause is shown, will do more to cut down accidents than years of compulsory insurance.

QUESTIONED VALUE OF I. Q. TESTS

The value of the much advertised intelligence tests, the I. Q. rating and all the special "exams" calculated to show whether you would make a better plumber or writer is strenuously questioned in an article by the late G. Stanley Hall which appears in the second issue of "Plain Talk."

"I do not believe," wrote Dr. Hall just prior to his death, "it is yet, if it ever will be, possible to test general, and still less, native, ability, and I even doubt if there is such a thing as the former. Educators once thought they could give a truly general culture, but most of us now doubt even whether there is any such thing. Psycho-analysis has taught us, if we did not know it before, that all the main determinants of character and conduct lie deeper than intelligence. The testers do not seem to realize that the mentality they test is only a very small part of the soul, and that their so exclusive devotion to it tends to make, and keeps, psychology superficial and narrow."

COLOR IN DEATH

Undertakers in convention decide caskets ought to be in warmer colors—rose and purple. How characteristic of the day and world in which we live and die! We have added color to everything in the last decade. Clothes are brighter, music is colorful, motor cars match the rainbow. The logical next step is to put color on coffins.

IT CAN'T BE REGULATED

Professor A. J. Todd, scientist, says the ideal age for marriage is 25 for men and 22 for women. He has it all figured out that this is best for the race. Other scientists have figured it out before and will keep on calculating. Doubtless they are right. Reason is likely to be righter than instinct. But what are they going to do about it? Trouble is, few folks are really rational. It isn't quite natural to be logical. People will marry when they will, and that's all there is to that. Twenty-five or 22? Who cares?

TALK

"Women talk too much." So says Sara De Forrest, president of the New York League of Business and Professional Women. They talk about getting equal salaries with men. They talk about mixing private affairs with public service. They worry about many things. President De Forrest says they ought to do more demanding and less talking. She should be more patient. Women have been in the business world for a few years. They have gone a long way. Perhaps talk has helped.

UP AND AT IT

A. F. Hockenbeamer has been made president of the Pacific Gas & Electric Co. This is a great public utility. The presidency is a big job. Young men will be interested to know that this man was once a janitor and then a stenographer. And the hopeful thing is that in this world of expanding affairs there is more chance for that sort of thing today than there ever was.

AHEAD OF HIS TIME

It is encouraging, here and there, to find a man ahead of his time. Coach Stagg, head of athletics in Chicago university, is one of those men. He takes a long look and a big look at sports. He has perspective—the thing few of us have. He knows that to develop manliness and character is greater than to win a game. He is trying to put a finer spirit into sport. He will not get far, but he will be a pioneer and he will have helped to start something. The day will come when we will think less of the professional aspects and see the true possibilities of sport.

OF A

New Yorker

By Burtos Rascoe

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—Just by way of compiling further Manhattan statistics, a friend of mine interested in the traffic problem counted the vehicles passing the corner of "ninety-second street and Broadway" between the hours of five and six one afternoon. He tells me the tally was two thousand, and it seems to me rather an appalling fact. He just counted the vehicles going north.

There's a candy table at the door of the Waldorf-Astoria's main dining room, and patrons are expected to help themselves to a judicious mint or two, in passing out. The other day I saw an exquisitely dressed young woman, whose luncheon check had probably been an expensive one, wait her chance, after she'd had her share, and sneak three extra pieces of Sherry's candy when the maitre d'hotel's back was turned.

The caricaturist in search of material would do well to amble through the departments in the big stores where "hats are made on the head," according to the idea long practiced in Paris. The women submitting to the Gallic operations are somehow so comic, so grotesque in their half-made hds and their burning self-consciousness. I hope the sad never extends to men's hats, because I look funny enough in some of the things I try on, when I look for a new hat, without subjecting myself to the ignominy of a fedora in the making. And think of what a half-baked derby would be like!

I lunched yesterday at the oyster bar in Grand Central Terminal. Of all the city's quick lunch counters, this is the most attractive and most efficient. Here oyster stew costs sixty cents, every high stool is taken, guests eat casually with their hats on, and there is a sprinkling of brisk, attractive young business women from the neighborhood advertising offices. If you are cursed with sensitive nerves, the obligate of clashing dishes might offend you. Otherwise the atmosphere is soothing, even tranquil, principally because you have to wait for so short a time for the food you have ordered.

My wife says she found the town's most obliging girl in Gimbel's store the other day. Two bewildered Italian women who had, between them, only two words to indicate their wishes in the way of merchandise, were patiently listened to and directed to the lingerie department. The words were "wedding" and "nightgown." True enough, it is not hard to interpret that, but there are so many hard, clipped, hunched-lipped girls all over town who would have giggled and ignored the dazed Latin women shopping for trousseau stuff. The elevator girl turned to my wife when the little scene had ended and said cheerfully: "That's nothing to the woman who got in the car the other day and asks me which floor is the mules on. Well, I was ignorant, I'll say. How was I to know she meant bedroom slippers?"

Meatless meals are the rule rather than the exception in many families at least once or twice a week. If you are used to planning them it is a bit hard, often-times, to think of a hearty dish to replace the meat. Cheese and nuts are two of the meat substitutes that are considered most satisfactory. The latter are used with mackerel to make the principal dish of the dinner menu.

Today's Recipes

Lima Beans with Celery—Use one pint fresh lima beans or one cup dried beans. If dried beans are used, soak over night, drain and rinse, then cook in boiling, salted water till tender, not soft. Cut celery in one-half-inch pieces, boil till nearly done, then add to beans. Let cook together a few minutes, add thin cream and serve hot.

Celery Soup

(Mrs. Mary Morton's Daily Tested Recipe.)
Cook the coarser stalks and green, leafy tops of a bunch of celery and one small onion (if you like the flavor) in a little water as much as possible through a wire strainer. Melt a tablespoon or more of butter, add a tablespoon of flour and mix smooth, gradually adding a pint of milk. Cook until smooth, add strained celery and water in which it was cooked, season with salt and pepper, let come to a boil and serve.

HIS MASTER'S VOICE

Living and Loving

BY MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

Love and Marriage

Can people learn to love after marriage? Should a person ever marry without love, trusting that it will come later? This is the question asked in the letter following. Also, is there any way to forget love?

"Dear Mrs. Lee: Can you tell me can a girl marry a man she does not love and learn to love him? And is there any way to forget love? There is one man I dearly love, but I must try to forget him."

"I would be so glad to get your advice, for my life is dull and I must wait for love or go ahead and take a man I do not love. I am 22."

"I would not marry a man without love, my dear, especially if you love someone else. Marriage, to be happy, requires a lot of love and understanding, and how could you give it to me, but the last letter I wrote he has not answered. I love him and he seemed to care for me, but since I wrote him he has been with another girl. Do you think he means he is done with me? Do you think it would be all right for me to write and ask him why he has not written? I do not want him to think I am tagging after him. BLUE EYES."

He might not have gotten your letter, Blue Eyes. Write him the note and ask him. He couldn't feel you are "tagging after him" if you just write him once, and maybe he'll explain.

"Mrs. Virginia Lee, Dear Friend: I am 22. I have a friend in another city. I have known him for years and it has been over three years since I have been with him for any length of time. His letters are somewhat indifferent. I love him as I can never love any other man. I don't care to have dates with anyone for they don't appeal to me. I think some time he will come and we will marry, although he has never mentioned such a thing. Do you think me silly for loving and expecting love from him? Mother says he doesn't love me, LOVE doesn't act like that. Do you think he cares at all? MISUNDERSTANDING GIRLIE."

It is always best to bravely face the truth, isn't it, Girlie? If he has been getting your letters all this time and still does not show any warmth he cannot be very deeply in love. Go out with other young men and let him miss a few letters and when you do write tell him about your good times. If he has any desire to make you his wife that will wake him up. Try it. If he doesn't respond to this treatment, let him go, dear. Really and truly now, aren't you loving a mental picture—your ideal of him—rather than the real man? Of course you're not silly.

How to Achieve Beauty

BY MRS. HELENA RUBINSTEIN

Keeping Your Shoulder Blades

There is a saying that "position is everything in life" and this is certainly true of beauty. Your nose would not be beautiful on your forehead nor your eyes on your chin, no one would dispute that, and yet many women seem to be completely oblivious of where their shoulders and chests belong. When I see a woman with convex shoulders and a concave chest I think of the old song about the girl whose "wishbone was where her backbone ought to be."

There seems to be a sort of lazy streak in the human race where posture is concerned. It is so easy to let everything sag—shoulders droop, chest droop, head fall forward or out of line—all of which register as or fatigue. You know the difference between make-up on the stage and an old one on the street. The former calls for buoyancy and all upward calls for portance and movements and lines, the latter for the sag and droop, the curves that go down and inward.

Carrying yourself well is not easy once you have allowed yourself to droop. It seems almost as if there were a force like gravity pulling you down. But if you do not pull yourself together, and counteract the droop, keep your figure constantly in line, you cannot be truly beautiful. Your carriage also has a tremendously important bearing on the health of all your body. When you let your chest and shoulders droop you crowd your lungs and keep your system from getting the proper supply of air.

Nut and Macaroni Cavity

Combine in a bowl, two cups boiled macaroni, one cup bread crumbs, one cup English walnuts (chopped), two eggs, three cups milk, two tablespoons chopped parsley, salt. Bake in a well-greased casserole about 45 minutes in a moderate oven. Serve hot with brown sauce.

Curried Cauliflower

Cook cauliflower in boiling, salted water till tender, drain, then divide into flowerets. Fry onion in four tablespoons fat for a few minutes, add curry powder, one tablespoon lemon juice, salt and one cup water. Simmer 15 minutes, strain, pour over cauliflower and let simmer again for 15 minutes. Serve hot.

Grape Juice Couffle

Soak one envelope gelatin in one pint sweetened grape juice 10 minutes. Heat in double boiler till gelatin is dissolved. Strain into bowl; when it begins to thicken, fold in whites of four eggs beaten stiff. Pour half of mixture into a chilled mold. To the balance add one-half cup heavy cream, beaten stiff. Chill on top of first mixture and pour thoroughly.

Poor Dear!

"Is the rich young widow pining for her husband?"
"Not exactly, but from the way she is making his money fly she might be said that she is wasting away."

Behind The Scenes In Washington

By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—To Senator Simeon D. Fess of Ohio, Washington gossip awards the medal for getting the worst presidential talking-to of the Coolidge administration.

Fess himself admits he was "scolded."

He was the first one to tell that he'd been "on the carpet."

The best guess is that he thought his wisest plan was to own up, rather than have the story leak out with exaggerations—though "they say" this was an incident it would take a mighty vivid imagination to exaggerate.

Fess will be recalled as a very early caller on President Coolidge, following the latter's issuance of his "do not choose" announcement, "out west."

"But he'll be drafted," added the Ohio senator, right away.

Others said the same thing at first, but presently they got the idea that the president didn't like it and shut up. They may have the same notion still in the back of their heads, but they stopped harping on it after the first few days.

Now, if Fess had listened sharply he would have overheard certain cynical remarks politicians were making, in explanation of his insistence upon the "drafting" of the president, to run again.

He would have heard them surmising that he (Fess) cared a blame sight less about the president's own welfare, or his party's, than he cared for his own (Fess's) senatorial prospects next year, which he probably figured—so the cynics opined—would be materially improved by a renewal of the Coolidge candidacy at the same time.

This was not a nice interpretation to put upon Senator Fess's attitude, but unfortunately it is not illogical from the standpoint of politicians who incline to impute selfish motives to others.

Painful as it is to record, President Coolidge was one of those who suspected, at least, that Senator Fess was speaking about two dozen words for himself and only one word for him (the president) in all that talk about "drafting" him in 1928.

We know this is so, because the president accused Fess of it point blank. We know that, too, because Fess testifies to it, and it wouldn't be like him to make such a thing up.

Fess called at the executive offices a few days ago—with not an inkling that anything was wrong—to discuss a little matter of Ohio patronage, so he said. He entered all smiles. He came out as a beat, and obviously much perturbed. Asked what was the matter, he told:

However, Fess stands pat. Even if it ends their friendship, he says he'll continue to insist on "drafting" program in 1928. That ought to prove he's disinterested.

GOOD CAUSE

"Where are you off to in such a hurry?"
"The hat of the man behind has blown off."
"What does that matter to you, that you are running too?"
"I have got it on."

Powerful Stuff!

A federal prohibition agent, who formerly worked in Harlem, the largest negro community in the world, told us this one:

Two negro moonshiners were discussing the merits and strength of their products.

"Ah makes mah licker strong," declared one, "dat when yo' drinks it, yo' can done smell de cornfield whar dat corn was grown."

"Humph! Nigger, dat ain' nothing," was the contemptuous comeback. "Ah spilled a few drops of mah licker on mah wife's pansy pot and dem pansies turned tuh tiger lillies."

I Have Said in My Heart

By IDAH MCGLOONE GIBSON

MEDIOCRITY

"If I had only one prayer that could be answered," said a clever woman to me the other day, "I would ask: 'Lord, make me an all-around woman.'"

"Just what do you mean by that?" I questioned.

"Well," she answered, "I would not care to have so much beauty that my friends would envy me, so much brains that they would be afraid of me. Indeed, I would not care to be so spiritual that I would feel myself set apart from my every-day fellows."

"Does that mean that you want to be commonplace?" was my question.

"Perhaps." Then seeing that I looked rather incredulous, she continued: "After all, aren't the common people the happiest? They are the ones who travel along and, without asking great things of life, contrive to be pretty content with whatever each day brings forth."

"The all-round person is he whose feet are on the ground, whose work is devoid of illusions, and above and beyond all, whose plan of living and being lies within the practicability of every-day life."

Memo: Be an all-around woman, commonplace, if you will, but having more than a modicum of commonsense and understanding.

Peter's Adventures

By Mrs. Florence Smith Vincent

Who Goes There?

It was a very mournful boy, indeed, who sat on the gray moss clump in the moonlit clearing and rubbed a head that ached from the bump it had received. But it was a brave boy as well.

Peter bit his lip when he felt it begin to quiver and peered searchingly about him. After all, 'twas only a dog that was howling so dismally. And a dog was nothing for a Two-Legs to be afraid of. Why, indeed, should a Two-Legs fear any creature of the Woods? Peter remembered he could speak to the woods folks in their own language, and he had met a lot of them and never had any trouble with them yet. Most of them were really fine fellows when one got acquainted.

Besides, there must be a short cut out of the Great Woods, and a fellow could find it if only he kept his head. Suddenly Peter thought of something else, and he jumped to his feet, waving his arms in his excitement.

"Whoopie!" cried Peter, his fear all gone. "I had almost forgotten the lizard's tail. No beast that flies or crawls or walks would hurt me while I have that bit of magic in my pocket."

"No, nor 'tis not likely that any of them would hurt you without it," remarked a voice in a squeak so like Peter's own that Peter thought the fellow must have been a friend and come back to help him.

"Hello, old chap!" cried the boy. "You are a good sort after all. You are a good sort after all. You mean to go off and leave me all alone. But I see now that you are only teasing me. Tell me, do, which turn I shall take to get into the woods?"

the clover field that lies to the right of the old brown farmhouse by the brook? I am afraid any more, but just the same I'd feel more comfortable if I was out of these shadows."

The welcome squeak had sounded very near his ear, and Peter had turned in its direction. No Batty there! The boy whirled around. No furry flier hovered over his head or flitted in the moonlight above him. But there on the ground at his feet hobbled a clumsy shape. It was small and dark, and not at all like Batty, and it was half walking, half flopping straight toward the boy. Peter stepped back, startled.

BILL CLEMANS REINSTATED: WILL PLAY AGAINST WITHROW

BILL CLEMANS

Central High School's prospects of defeating Coach Nelson Walke's Withrow High "Tigers" from Cincinnati Friday afternoon at Cox Memorial Athletic Field, were considerably increased Wednesday when the suspension on William Clemans, veteran player, was lifted by Coach Victor Kolb.

Return of Clemans to practice for the first time in more than a week Wednesday afternoon was hailed with delight by football fans and students alike.

Clemans had been handicapped during the early part of the season by an injury to the ankle but is now in excellent physical condition. The remainder of the squad is also in fine shape.

The Blue and White expects to present the most diversified attack of the season against the East Siders Friday and Coach Kolb has reserved a few trick plays up his sleeve to be used for the first time against Withrow. He is hinting that Clemans may be used at end in Friday's game.

PETITION COUNTY FOR LUCAS DITCH

Petition for construction of another single county ditch, to be known as the Lucas ditch, in Silvercreek and Jefferson Twp., has been filed with County Commissioners.

The proposed ditch will be three miles in length, beginning 500 feet south of the Plymouth Road and extending to the Burr Road.

The petition pointed out that construction of the ditch would be beneficial to a number of land owners. The petitioners also filed bond of $350. The bond was signed by B. B. Stackhouse, W. G. Turner, Stephen Garringer, Elsie Ary, W. F. Lewis and J. A. Brakefield.

NOW COSHOCTON TO HAVE "WHITE WAY"

COSHOCTON, O., Oct. 27.—Coshocton plans to have a "white way" lighting system. Thirty officials of the city, business men and others inspected Cambridge's white way system, said to be the best on the National Road outside the metropolitan centers, Tuesday night and were favorably impressed.

The city planned to install such a system two years ago but could not on account of the condition of the city's finances, but the mayor and councilmen said they believed Coshocton would install the system soon.

HELP KIDNEYS BY DRINKING MORE WATER

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys and Help Neutralize Irritating Acids

Kidney and Bladder irritations often result from acidity, says a noted authority. The kidneys help filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it may remain to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, itching sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obligating you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread; the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in voiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is often one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Begin drinking lots of soft water also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast. Continue this for two or three days. This will help neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer are a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs, which then act normal again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by acid irritation. Jad Salts causes no bad effects whatever. Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink which may quickly relieve your bladder irritation. —Adv.

FORM GRID STRATEGY BOARD

Coach Victor Kolb and Assistant Coach Glen Patterson compose the strategy board at Central High School. They are busy this week plotting plays designed to frustrate Withrow High of Cincinnati in its game with Central gridders here Friday afternoon. ## TALKS "PEP" FANS FOR FOOTBALL TILT

Pre-game enthusiasm in the Xenia-Withrow football game Friday afternoon at Cox Memorial Athletic Field was stimulated at a special "pep" assembly of the high school student body in Jean B. Elwell Auditorium Thursday morning.

A brief talk by George Geyer, Central alumnus, prominent Xenia business man and enthusiastic football fan, was a feature of the assembly. Mr. Geyer confined his remarks to reminiscences of school events of former years and recollections of the high school spirit in the past.

E. G. Whitworth, member of the faculty, also talked briefly regarding the Withrow game.

Students were led in cheering by William Horner, an alumnus cheer leader of the class of 1925.

FORTY MERCHANTS TO CLOSE FOR GAME

Forty of the leading business firms of the city have agreed to close for two hours Friday afternoon to permit employees to attend the Xenia-Withrow High School football game at Cox Memorial Athletic Field, it is announced.

Business houses, practically without exception, were enthusiastic over the proposal and the attendance at the game will be easily the largest of the season, it is predicted.

Places of business will be closed from 2:30 to 4:30 o'clock. The game will begin at 2:45.

County offices in the Court House will also close for the afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, with authorization of County Commissioners.

It is also being requested that flags be displayed Friday afternoon by business firms.

COON HUNTERS TO HOLD FIELD TRIALS

Third annual field trials, sponsored by the South Central Coon Hunters' Association, will be held Saturday October 29 at the Willard Collins Grove, eight miles west of Washington, C. H., on state route No. 38, near Buena Vista, it is announced.

The grand champion prize of 40 per cent of the total receipts, will be split three ways—first, 50 per cent; second, 30 per cent; third, 20 per cent. Attractive prizes are also offered for heat winners. Jack pots are optional.

Two classes are scheduled, including the young dog class—any dog up to and including two years old; and the all-age class, all dogs more than two years of age.

Refreshments will be served on the grounds.

CHIROPRACTY BILL DISCUSSED HERE BY AKRON LEGISLATOR

The proposed bill, providing for a separate board of examiners for chiropractors which will be an issue at the coming election, was discussed by Henry S. Davidson, Akron, member of the state legislature, at a special meeting of the Greene County Medical Society, in the Court House, Wednesday evening.

The Greene County medical organization went on record as opposed to the bill.

The speaker gave a history of the efforts to obtain the passage of a similar bill by the Ohio Legislature over a period of twelve years and explained that in every attempt the bill went down to defeat. The present bill, he said, when voted on by the House, received thirty-one out of a possible 125 votes.

The proponents interested in the bill seek to treat all diseases and injuries after a shorter course in a chiropractic school. Davidson said.

He explained further that chiropractors now are examined by the state board which examines twelve other classes of limited practitioners. Whether the initiative bill to be voted on is passed or defeated, the status of chiropractors now practicing will not be affected, he said.

Under the present laws, chiropractors are only permitted to treat those ailments which are not infectious or contagious.

ONLY NEED WEATHER TO BRING SUCCESS

If the weather man is kind and continues the perfect brand of fall weather that has prevailed for the last week, Xenia will have a Halloween carnival Saturday night that will bring masked revellers from all parts of the county.

Booster delegations have visited all of the smaller towns in the county advertising the event and inviting the people of these localities to join in the big frolic here Saturday night. It is expected that visitors from all of the towns visited will be present and take part in the big parade.

Members of the band who have solicited prizes for the various events say that the local merchants have been generous in their donations and it will be well worth while to take part in the contests.

The parade will form at seven o'clock and will cover the downtown district. Every one who is in costume is asked to get into the parade. Following the parade the big masked dance will take place at the Junior Order Hall.

ASSESSMENTS FOR PAVING APPROVED

Schedule of assessments against property owners benefited by the improvement of Section H of the Columbus-Cincinnati Pike, I. C. H. No. 6, below Spring Valley, filed by County Surveyor W. J. In a resolution adopted by commissioners, the assessments were ordered certified to County Auditor R. O. Wead to be placed by him on a special tax duplicate and collected as other taxes over a period of ten years, beginning in December, 1927 and ending in December, 1936.

OFFICIAL ARGUMENTS EXPLAIN BOTH SIDES OF MARSHALL BILL

The Marshall Bill, is easily the most discussed question to come before the voters in Ohio this year. It is a bill designed to re-establish the powers of justices of the peace, which were considerably curtailed by the United States Supreme Court decision in the celebrated Tumey case, when the court held the Ohio justice law was unconstitutional because the fees from which the justice was paid, depended upon a conviction and he was therefore interested in the outcome of the case he was trying.

Governor Vic Donahey, refusing to give his approval to the measure, also refused to veto the bill and it would have become a law had not Senator George Bender, Cleveland, supported by automobile clubs over Ohio, filed petitions with sufficient names to demand a referendum on the measure.

Three-fourths of the bill is given over to provisions which regulate fees for the justice, mayor, constable or other court officers while the section under discussion represents only a small portion of the bill. It provides that the justice or mayor shall file a schedule of fees with the county treasurer each month and the treasurer must pay the justice a sum equal to the fees charged, whether collected from the defendant or charged against the state.

The amount of fees the justice can receive is limited to $250 a month, $175 for a constable or marshal and $150 a month for a special constable or special marshal. Here are the official arguments for and against the bill, just as they have been approved by state authorities:

ARGUMENT FOR IT
The official argument for the bill as filed with the secretary of state of Ohio follows:

You should vote "YES" on this law for the following reasons: Amended Senate Bill No. 72, the Marshall Bill, was passed by the Ohio Legislature to eliminate temptation on the part of justices of the peace and mayors to convict in order to get their fees. After the introduction and before the passage of this bill, the United States Supreme Court rendered a decision holding that inferior courts can not sit in the trial cases in which they are interested in the result from the standpoint of either fees or fines. The Marshall Law is in perfect harmony with that decision, and to give mayors and justices jurisdiction in accordance with that decision, this law must be approved.

The purpose of this referendum is to break down enforcement of prohibition laws. The Marshall Law is needed to secure proper enforcement of such laws as well as of other laws. This statement is borne out by the annual report of State Prohibition Commissioner McDonald.

This is not a salary law. The magistrate is paid from the county treasury only for work done, his compensation ranging from nothing to not to exceed $250 a month. Another law distributing liquor fines, one-half to county, one-half to state, will produce ample revenue to operate under the Marshall Law without any additional levy.

The Marshall Law will in no way affect traffic violations, and propaganda to influence the vote of auto mobile drivers is unjust and false since justices' courts do not have final jurisdiction in traffic cases.

Those most vitally interested in the defeat of this law are bootleggers and their friends. The same crowd is backing this referendum that has opposed dry forces in every Ohio campaign for a quarter of a century. Vote "YES."

L. T. MARSHALL, Senator for 5th, 6th District.

ALTON H. ETLING, Senator for 17, 18, 19 and 28th District.

JAMES A. WHITE, Former Supt. of Ohio Anti-Saloon League and Ohio Dry Federation.

Committee appointed by the governor.

ARGUMENT AGAINST

The official argument against the bill as filed with the secretary of state of Ohio follows:

The Act is vicious because it violates the fundamental rule that judicial officers must have no interest in cases tried by them. It flouts the United States Supreme Court decision (Tumey case) rendered last March wherein the majority's pecuniary personal interest and "his official motive to convict and graduate the fine to help the financial needs of the village" were held unconstitutional—violating "due process of law" clause. The Marshall Act has similar objections. Its concluding paragraph provides the monthly maximum compensation to justices, mayors, marshal and special marshal.

The fee system of compensation to judicial officials invites cupidity and injustice follows. This has been the case with automobiles caught in speed traps and tried by road courts or those who have had their cars searched and seized on the plea of contraband liquor. Automobileists hailed the decision of Chief Justice Taft as a relief from graft and holdup. Shall the decision now be annulled by the Marshall Act?

To arouse prejudice rather than invoke reasoning, the assertion has been made and will continue to be made that this controversy is a "wet and dry" fight. If at all, it is such only because Anti-Saloon League officials fostered and drove the Marshall Act through the legislature. Many independent "drys" realize that the raids practiced for private profit discredited prohibition enforcement and that a return of those conditions will be intolerable. No honest man or woman can defend the pernicious system of commercialized courts. To return them by approval of the Marshall Act would be a lasting disgrace to the State. The "NO" vote in November, already reflected in press opinion, must be decisive and instructive to the legislature to heed the voice of the people, and not the dictation of Anti-Saloon League officials. Willful men who would deliberately defile our court system and that in defiance of a ruling of the supreme court of the land deserve public condemnation and emphatic rebuke.

GEORGE H. BENDER, NILES J. JOHNSON, M. E. WOLGAST, M. B. CAIN, CHARLES C. JAMES, Committee.

TWO Commander roadsters were started at the Atlantic City Speedway October 6, 1927, under supervision of the American Automobile Association. Not one, but both of them, established new stock car records for 1000 miles, for 12 hours and for 24 hours. Neither of them required any mechanical attention during the entire run. After finishing the 24-hour grind the winning Commander spurred 15 miles at 82.62 miles an hour.

The Commander now holds all stock car records for periods up to 24 hours and distances up to 1000 miles.

What is the best picture of the present year? Or, if there's a distinction, what is the best Paramount picture? With ten months of 1927 gone, eyes of movie fans of all other persons are turned toward the new year and speculating on the final estimate of the job just being completed. "At this age," she declares, "a woman should be in full possession of all those little graces which spell a refinement and irresistible attractiveness." The story was written by John Monk Saunders and is directed by William Wellman, the author and director of the companion piece. Gary Cooper is the star of the picture.
